LIFELONG LEARNING TO AGE WELL  LOCATIONS IN DENTON, FLOWER MOUND, & FRISCO  OLLI.UNT.EDU
Since 2009, the University of North Texas in Denton has offered a lifelong learning program with non-credit courses, events, special interest groups, and trips designed by and for adults 50 and better. Our program began with the vision of Dr. James R. Miller (1926 - 2011), former Dean of UNT’s College of Education. Dr. Miller encouraged the development of this lifelong learning program with the goal of one day earning the designation of an Osher Lifelong Learning Institute.

Thanks to the generosity of the Bernard Osher Foundation, which seeks to improve quality of life through support for higher education and the arts, our program joined a network of 122 Osher Lifelong Learning Institutes across the United States in 2016. Our membership has since swelled to over 630 and we've recently added satellite locations in both Flower Mound and Frisco. In November 2018, the Foundation unanimously approved a $1 million endowment for our program, ensuring that this great resource will be around for many years to come.

Two of our incredible student assistants have finished their coursework and are moving on to the next phase of their careers. We can't thank Katelyn Noah and Lily Witty enough for all of their hard work during their time with us. They have both been instrumental to the success of OLLI at UNT. In addition to welcoming members to class at our UNT and Frisco locations, they communicated regularly with our faculty and worked hard to organize our schedule of classes each semester. We wish them both the best!
Dear OLLI at UNT Family,

It is always my pleasure to welcome you to a new semester with OLLI at UNT! Spring 2019 looks to be one of the best yet! We have over 120 classes to choose from taught by 78 different faculty members. There is truly something for everyone this semester! In addition to our classes, we have several special events including a trip to an exotic animal sanctuary, a visit to UNT’s Sky Theater, and fascinating lectures with distinguished lecture series presenters Don Lemon and Tamika Mallory. We also have SkyWarn coming to teach us about how storms develop, how to identify potential weather features and severe weather safety…great information for spring in Texas! Members have chosen three exciting destinations for 2019 including a People to People tour of Cuba, the Colorado Rockies, and Colors of New England.

We also have several Special Interest Groups (SIGs) that you can join! We have 3 Book Clubs, a Live Theater group and a Day Trippers group! Please see page 36 for more information on how you can get involved. We also have many amazing UNT College of Music and UNT Dance and Theater performances to partake in.

In addition to an incredible line-up of classes and events, OLLI at UNT is celebrating with more great news! The Bernard Osher Foundation awarded OLLI at UNT with a $1,000,000 endowment this fall that will help financially sustain the program and ensure that lifelong learning is available to adults 50 and better in our community for years to come. We are so thankful for the generosity of the Bernard Osher Foundation!

As if a million dollar endowment is not enough, the UNT Administration has also given OLLI at UNT a dedicated space in a building adjacent to the UNT campus where we will hold classes and committee meetings, have office space for our staff, and maintain a lounge where members can come and grab a cup of coffee, borrow a book from the lending library, and visit with peers. OLLI at UNT now has a home! We will have dozens of FREE parking spaces right out front! We are so grateful for the amazing support we get from President Smatresk and his Administration. Please join us for classes in our new space or just drop by to visit. Our door is always open. We want to create a space that feels like home for you!

Together for the love of learning,

Stephanie Reinke, Ed.D.
Director, OLLI at UNT
University of North Texas

We are extremely grateful to the Smatresks for their enthusiastic support of and involvement in OLLI at UNT!

Introducing the OLLI at UNT Podcast

Recently, OLLI at UNT member Susan Supak approached us with an intriguing idea. Based on her experience conducting interviews with visiting speakers at her local library back in New York, she offered to conduct a similar interview series here, featuring some of the faculty, members, and staff of OLLI at UNT. Needless to say, we loved the idea and the OLLI at UNT podcast was born!

We’re excited to share this series of interviews with you. The podcast will premiere during our Winter Break and will give you a deeper look into the professional and personal lives of OLLI at UNT faculty. In about 20 minutes or less, Susan showcases her talent for bringing out interesting facts about your fellow members, as well as the men and women who volunteer to teach our courses. She also gets the latest news about the program from OLLI at UNT staff. If you’ve ever left a course and wished the conversation didn’t have to end, this podcast is for you.

In the fall, we took a bus to Dallas for a private tour of the Morton H. Meyerson Symphony Center. After enjoying a delicious buffet served in the foyer, we split into two groups to get a behind-the-scenes look at this world renowned venue. Our docents were extremely knowledgeable and we even got to see some musicians working on their craft. It was an unforgettable experience!

ENROLLMENT INSTRUCTIONS

NEW MEMBERS
If you haven’t yet joined OLLI at UNT as a member, you can purchase your membership and enroll in courses and events at the same time on our website: olli.unt.edu/register.

If you prefer to register by mail, you should submit a Membership Registration Form (available at olli.unt.edu/register), payment for your membership fees, and an Enrollment Form (also available at olli.unt.edu/register) to the mailing address listed on the forms. Want to receive these forms in the mail? Contact olli@unt.edu or 940-369-7293 to submit your request.

CURRENT MEMBERS
If you already have an active OLLI at UNT membership, you can enroll in courses and events online using the Member Portal, which is available at olli.unt.edu/members, along with our Member Portal Guide. The Guide is illustrated with photos and includes step-by-step instructions on how to perform many specific tasks within the portal.

Active members can also enroll in courses and events through the mail by submitting and an Enrollment Form (available at olli.unt.edu/register). Want to receive this form by mail? Contact olli@unt.edu or 940-369-7293 to submit your request.

ENROLLMENT PERIOD
You may purchase an OLLI at UNT membership at any time during the year. Your annual membership will begin on the day of purchase and include three consecutive semesters. Pre-enrollment is required for courses and events. Some events may have specific enrollment deadlines, otherwise we simply ask that you enroll as early as possible, so that we may anticipate the number of members in attendance for courses and events.

COURSE & EVENT FEES
If you join at the $55 Annual Membership level, a fee of $10 applies to each course in which you enroll. The fee is $10 no matter how many sessions are included in the course. Fees should be paid when you enroll in the course, either by mail or online. The staff at our satellite locations cannot accept any OLLI at UNT payments. Our OLLI After 5:00 and Lunch & Learn lecture series are complimentary for all members. The price of other events will vary. We offer complimentary events for members whenever possible.

CANCELLATIONS
If you ever need to cancel your participation in a course or event, please do so by contacting our office at olli@unt.edu or 940-369-7293. We may be able to move another member off of the waitlist!
SPECIAL EVENTS

The United States is the most severe weather-prone country in the world. Each year, people in this country cope with an average of 10,000 thunderstorms, 5,000 floods, 1,200 tornadoes, and two landfalling hurricanes.

SKYWARN® is a National Weather Service (NWS) program developed in the 1960s that consists of trained weather spotters who provide reports of severe and hazardous weather to help meteorologists make life-saving warning decisions. In this training, you’ll learn about the basics of thunderstorm development, the fundamentals of storm structure, how to identify potential severe weather features, what information to report, how to report information, and basic severe weather safety.

This event is free for all members.

Join us for a special showing of the short film Are We Alone? at UNT’s Sky Theater. This event is free for all OLLI at UNT members. The theater is located in the Environmental Science Building on UNT’s Denton Campus.

The night sky, both beautiful and mysterious, has been the subject of campfire stories, ancient myths and awe for as long as there have been people. A desire to comprehend the Universe may well be humanity’s oldest shared intellectual experience. Yet only recently have we truly begun to grasp our place in the vast cosmos. To learn about whether we are alone in this expansive universe, join us for this screening.

This event is free for all members.

Join OLLI at UNT for a tour of the International Exotic Animal Sanctuary in Boyd, TX. The sanctuary inhabitants include bobcats, cougars, lions, tigers and bears among other species. The tours usually last at least an hour and a half to two hours. The overall route measures about 6/10ths of a mile which is on gravel paths that wind around the habitats.

Wear comfortable walking shoes! There are a couple of gradual hills and a several sets of steps. We will be taking a bus down to Boyd in the morning and will return home in the afternoon. The bus will make stops at our Flower Mound Senior Center, Good Samaritan Society – Lake Forest Village, and Robson Ranch Clubhouse locations. Lunch is included.

DID YOU KNOW?

OLLI at UNT is hosting Great Decisions discussions this semester (see pg. 23 for details). The first "Great Decisions" group was launched in Portland, Oregon in 1954 by Roger Mastrude. Based on the so-called "Avon" model of face-to-face, active and informal conversation, participants would read a fact sheet on eight topics before meetings, where they aired their respective views and opinions. Foreign Policy Association would tally up opinion ballots and report the results to the Department of State. The program gained media attention, was picked up by local schools, and soon gained national attention.
In recent survey responses, OLLI at UNT members have expressed an interest in discussing current issues and events in a respectful, open environment. This spring, we will be continuing Hot Topics sessions to provide our members with the opportunity to share their thoughts and ideas on timely subjects, with a staff member serving as a moderator. These events are free to all members. We will host these discussions in multiple locations. Please feel free to attend the session that is most convenient for you.

EXPERIENCES OF HUNGER AND FOOD INSECURITY AMONG COLLEGE STUDENTS
THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14

There has been an increase in the national awareness and discussion of food insecurity and hunger on U.S. college campuses in the past few years. Evidence that universities are paying attention to the issue of food insecurity among students comes from the increasing number of campus food pantries. The College and University Food Bank Alliance reports a growth from one campus food pantry in 2007 to 641 in mid-2018. This talk highlights the meaning and experience of food insecurity, stigma and shame, physical and mental health, academic success and motivation, coping strategies, and potential solutions to decrease food insecurity among students.

DR. LISA HENRY is Professor of Anthropology at UNT. As an applied medical anthropologist, her research interests include food insecurity, globalization and health, indigenous healing systems, biomedicine and healthcare delivery, and anthropology in public health.

DISORDERED SLEEP, CULTURE, AND HEALTH: REFLECTIONS ON THE OTHER 1/3 OF LIFE
THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21

The last 20 years have seen a dramatic rise in clinical, scholarly, and popular interest in the relationships between sleep and health. The Anthropology of Sleep can offer insights into the social and cultural aspects of sleep and health, particularly into the manifestations and treatment of sleep disorders like insomnia, sleep apnea, and sleep paralysis, and the myriad of sleep concerns that evolve across the life-cycle, from infancy and childhood to adolescence and older age.

DR. DOUG HENRY is a Medical Anthropologist and Associate Professor at UNT. He is particularly interested in clinical behavior and public health, in both Africa and the U.S.

MORE THAN A STEREOTYPE: ERASING RACIALIZATION
THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 28

This lecture will be interactive. I intend to be the guide on the side, not the sage on the stage. We will listen to a radio story about an incident that occurred at a movie theatre in Oakland, California on MLK day. The story is a detailed look at how children's behavior gets mischaracterized because the children are Black, and therefore, already racialized. I will define racialization very briefly before the radio show. After we listen I will coordinate a discussion of what the show revealed and maybe what it can teach us.

DR. BEVERLY (“BEV”) DAVENPORT is Principal Lecturer and Director of Undergraduate Programs for the Anthropology Department. Her research focuses in the anthropology and social epidemiology of chronic disease in the US, with a special interest in race and class as determinants of health disparities.

CONSERVATIVES AND CONSERVATIONISTS: A CONVERSATION ABOUT NORTH TX WATER SUPPLY
THURSDAY, APRIL 11

After three years researching suburban residents' beliefs and behaviors concerning the urban water cycle, Dr. Johnson and her student research teams discovered that the “cost” of conserving water can differ greatly from one household to the next. Her presentation will put these different perspectives into conversation in order to highlight challenges of securing water for the next generation of North Texans.

DR. JAMIE K. JOHNSON is an urban anthropologist and a full-time lecturer at UNT. Her recent projects in urban ecology examine residential perceptions of the water-energy nexus, and are informed by a four-field approach to the human experience.

Don’t feel like bringing your lunch from home? Consider heading over to the Robson Ranch Wildhorse Grill before these lectures to grab a meal to go! OLLI at UNT members receive a 10% discount.

These lectures are free for all OLLI at UNT members!
Complimentary wine and cheese is provided for these lectures in the Robson Ranch Clubhouse from 5:30 pm - 6:30 pm.

ESPORTS AT UNT
TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 12

While the esports industry has been going for years, the competitive gaming industry is starting to make its way into more mainstream popularity. College and high school campuses are starting to legitimize student talent and support them while they achieve their academic goals. This causing a chain reaction of colleges to pick up and research programs, and forcing the NCAA to assess their policy and support for college students who compete for their university through esports.

DYLAN WRAY received his BA in Media Communications at Colorado State University, and then his MS in Audio Engineering for Video Games at the University of Colorado Denver. He’s now developing UNT’s collegiate esports program, which supports several competitive teams and provides students practical knowledge about the esports industry.

CURRENT PERSPECTIVES ON NEAR-DEATH EXPERIENCES
WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17

After surviving a close brush with death, about one in five people report having had a near-death experience. (NDE): a typically very real experience of their consciousness functioning apart from their physical body, perceiving the material world and/or transmaterial entities and domains such as deceased loved ones. These experiences provoke questions about the nature of consciousness and its survival of physical death. In this presentation, Dr. Holden will summarize over 40 years of research on this phenomenon and its implications for an understanding of consciousness.

DR. JANICE MINER HOLDEN completed her EdD in 1988 and is currently a professor of Counseling at UNT. Jan’s primary research focus has been counseling implications of NDEs, after-death communication, and other transpersonal experiences—those that transcend the usual personal limits of space, time, and/or identity.

RECOLLECTIONS OF A YOUNG RECORDING ENGINEER
TUESDAY, APRIL 2

In 1951, I began work as a recording engineer in a Boston recording studio. In my three years there, I had many memorable experiences. There are three, however, which are the most memorable. In 1952, I recorded the radio commercials for John F. Kennedy as he competed for the Senate seat in Massachusetts against the incumbent, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. I have none of those recordings, but I do have lots of recollections! We also recorded rehearsals of the Boston Symphony Orchestra for NBC Radio Network broadcasts. The recordings I have feature the BSO’s Music Director, Charles Munch as he prepares the orchestra for its weekend concerts. And then there’s the recording I made of a young Harvard University teaching fellow in mathematics, Tom Lehrer. It was this recording which helped propel him into a national career as an entertainer.

ED GLICK, PhD is an Emeritus Faculty member in the UNT Department of Media Arts. He has produced radio and television programs broadcast on commercial and non-commercial stations throughout the United States. He is a former Director of the Broadcast Education Association and was named “Educator of the Year” in 2010 by the Texas Association of Broadcasters.

BUILDING YOUR ESTATE AND LEGACY PLANS TO GET THE BIGGEST BANG FOR YOUR BUCK!
TUESDAY, MARCH 26

Members will learn what a proper estate plan looks like to promote the legacy that they want to leave. There will be a small panel format that will talk about estate planning to take care of yourself, spouse, loved ones and charities. Instruction will include different tools that can be used to protect and grow assets, and how to get the biggest impact for money left to charity.

MR. ROY GRISHAM is a graduate of the UNT College of Business and is currently Executive Director of Estate and Planned Giving for UNT’s Division of Advancement. Mr. Grisham also had a successful career in insurance, risk management, finance and international business.

MR. RAY CROFF is CEO and President of Mobius Financial Advisors. Ray is a Certified Exit Planning Advisor and specializes working with business owners is assisting them to prepare for the most significant event in their working years, the eventual sale of their business.

MRS. LEIGH HILTON has helped over 6,000 families protect the assets that they leave to loved ones from divorce, creditors, lawsuits and predators. She has also helped over 350 implement the plans that she has prepared after the death of a loved one and helped over 1,200 families implement the plans prepared by other attorneys.

ED GLICK, PhD is an Emeritus Faculty member in the UNT Department of Media Arts. He has produced radio and television programs broadcast on commercial and non-commercial stations throughout the United States. He is a former Director of the Broadcast Education Association and was named “Educator of the Year” in 2010 by the Texas Association of Broadcasters.
WHAT'S UP WITH UNT?
TUESDAY, APRIL 16

Hear from President Smatresk about the progress and direction of the University of North Texas in 2019 and beyond.

PRESIDENT NEAL J. SMATRESK
(pronounced SMAH tresk) joined UNT in 2014 with a vision for leading the University of North Texas to national prominence as the largest, most comprehensive university dedicated to meeting the needs of the dynamic North Texas region.

Since his arrival, UNT has been named a Tier One research university by the Carnegie Classification, grown in enrollment to serve more than 38,000 students including 76 National Merit Scholars — up from a class of four — and seen 72 of its 227 academic programs ranked among the nation’s Top 100.

WEIMAR MURDERERS AND POST-WAR CANNIBALS
TUESDAY, APRIL 23

After a look at theories of criminal degeneration and depictions of cold-blooded murder in literature and popular culture last fall, here is a sequel for those who cannot get enough of such gruesome tales. The exploits of notorious killers have been fictionalized in films like Silence of the Lambs, Copy Cat, Seven, and Scream and TV series like Millennium and Dexter, but the cinematic and real life-predecessors of this trend can be traced all the way back to Germany in the late 1920s. You will be able to enjoy this lecture even if you did not attend Dr. Waltje’s course in the Fall.

DR. JÖRG WALTJE was born and raised in Germany. Currently, he is the Executive Director of the Center for Faculty Excellence at Texas Woman's University. He holds a Ph.D. in comparative literature from the University of Colorado at Boulder and is also the author of Blood Obsession: Vampires, Serial Murder, and the Popular Imagination.

These lectures are free for all OLLI at UNT members!

FALL FLASHBACK

In November 2018, the Day Trippers Special Interest Group carpooled to the Blue Ostrich winery in St. Jo for a tour, wine tasting, and stargazing!

Members received a double dose of fashion history as Dr. Christy Crutsinger presented “Kings, Queens, & Bling: 18th Century Fashion & Furnishings” (bottom left) and Dr. Kaye Nubel brought in Annette Becker, director of the Texas Fashion Collection at UNT (bottom right), to discuss the Fashion & Style of America’s First Ladies as part of her group discussion of First Women by Kate Brower.
19TH CENTURY FOLK ART WORKSHOP & HOME TOUR

SESSION 1: In a workshop format, members will learn about the history and tradition of 19th century American and British folk art—silhouettes, portraits, portrait miniatures, and other folk art forms. They will experience the hands-on creation of selected folk art forms. SESSION 2: In a guided tour format, members will meet at Dr. Laney’s home to view his extensive 19th century American and British folk art collection.

DR. JAMES D. LANEY is a tenured Full Professor and Chair of the Department of Teacher Education and Administration at UNT. His research and writings are in the area of social studies education and arts integration in grades EC-12. He is an avid collector of 19th century American and British folk art.

Mondays, March 25 & April 1; 10:00am - 11:30am

A BRIEF HISTORY OF EARLY JAZZ

From the end of Ragtime to the beginning of Swing (Scott Joplin to Duke Ellington), this course will have musical excerpts and a PowerPoint presentation that will introduce the musicians and events that led to the birth of America’s art form: Jazz.

PROFESSOR RON FINK has several degrees from the University of Illinois, taught many at Northern Illinois University, and was a professor of percussion at UNT for 35 years. He was the first full-time University percussion teacher in Texas and he is currently a Professor Emeritus and a professional musician with multiple bands.

FAIRY TALES AND THE LIFE WE LIVE

The instructor will tell several fairy/folktales so that he, along with the members of the class, may find meaning within them and apply them to our lives. Hopefully, in the tradition of Women Who Run With The Wolves, these tales will inspire healthy rumination about the human condition. Fairytales contain the wisdom of the ages and their retelling shares that wisdom.

RUSSELL GREGORY earned a degree in history from Oklahoma Baptist University and also completed a Ph.D. in Religious studies with a concentration in Hebrew Bible (Old Testament). He eventually taught twenty-five years at Radford University in Virginia and during that time received the Donald Dedmon Award for teaching excellence.

HORROR IN LITERATURE

In this course, there will be discussion and teaching on horror in literature throughout the ages. One to two books will be assigned for reading by the students, or appropriate suggestions given by students will also be acceptable. Analysis will be performed by the students on not only how horror is written and perceived during the specific writing, but how the concept has changed over time from the Bible to modern day. There will also be discussion during each session on the horror genre itself, and how this concept has changed over time, including up to modern day.

GAVIN COX is currently completing a Master’s degree in Literature and has led informal discussions on literature.

Karl King: A Prince of the Circus March

While John Philip Sousa is called the March King, two other march composers are almost as well known for their march writing. Henry Fillmore who hailed from Ohio and Karl King, a native son of Iowa both wrote numerous marches (and other music) during their lifetime. Fillmore is best known best for his traditional marches, while King is most famous for his circus and show marches. This course will explore the life of Karl King and present a number of marches for the listeners in the class.

DR. DAHRYL RAMSEY is recently retired as a Professor of Music in the College of Music at UNT. His area of expertise in undergraduate music education was instrumental literature and band history. He also taught a History of Music Education class that incorporated American music and African-American music. He holds degrees from Carson–Newman College and The University of Iowa.

LET'S READ A SHORT STORY:
SHERWOOD ANDERSON'S "I'M A FOOL"

The protagonist in this story, an under-educated, immature young man, encounters a chance—perhaps his only one—for a meaningful relationship, and bungles it. The story offers fertile ground for discussion of motivation, self-deceit, exposition of character, and irony, to mention just a few. The story is a quick read. You will find this story to be hilarious, but also poignant. A link to the text can be found on the OLLI at UNT Faculty Handout site.

DR. DON VANN is a Professor Emeritus in UNT’s Department of English and retired Regents Professor. He has been an author or editor of eight books, as well as scores of articles and reviews.

MEN AND WOMEN IN COMMUNICATION:
"HE SAYS. SHE SAYS."

Men and women often use very different styles when communicating with one another. Some popular writers and researchers believe that men and women speak in distinct ways, as if they are from different cultures. Understanding these differences can help in creating & enjoying positive relationships. Join us for an interactive lecture including History of Gender & Interpersonal Communication; Stereotypes of the Past; Communication Styles Of Present; & Developing Behavioral Flexibility.

DR. KAYE NUBEL, former Associate Professor, has taught at university and college levels for over 25 years. Her areas of expertise are in Public Speaking, Interpersonal Communication, Intercultural Communication, Group Dynamics and Team Building. She has facilitated courses at OLLI in California as well as Texas.

MUSIC AT THE MOVIES: THE SEQUEL

We find movies today and yesterday making “social comments”, sometimes subtle and sometimes overt – social comments about the people’s moral, political, and social attitudes in the times in which the movies are produced. So, what members will see and hear in this class is a selection of movies that have enjoyable soundtracks (incidental music) coupled with a discussion about a variety of cultural, historic, or literary interests that are associated with the movie – some heavier and some lighter.

POEMS BY TEXAS POET LAUREATE CARMEN TAFOLLA

This course will examine some of the best poems in Carmen Tafolla’s recent volume in TCU Press’ Texas Poet Laureate Series. Tafolla was named the 2015 Texas Poet Laureate and is a frequently anthologized Chicana poet. The format will be guided discussion where participants can offer their interpretations and hear the instructors views. The chosen poems will be made available to participants in advance; those who wish to purchase the 2018 book can find it on Amazon. Background information about Tafolla can be found on her website, CarmenTafolla.com.

DR. STEPHEN SOURIS, Professor of English at Texas Woman’s University, teaches modern American literature. He has also taught classes on Texas poets and is the host of Texas Poets Podcast. An advocate of adult education programs, he is the producer of Professor’s Corner: A Literary Discussion Group at the Denton Public Library.

SPORTSCARS AS ART

The focus of the course is passion and appreciation. Instead of paintings and sculpture, this art appreciation course focuses on actual cars ranging from antique to modern, European to American, and covering a wide range of genres. The course will center around a theme and four to five vehicles will be presented, usually by their owners. Some of the marques will be famous, like Ferrari, Porsche, & Jaguar. Some of the marques will not be well known, like Morgan, NSU, & Austin.

BRYAN DICKSON has taught at UNT as an adjunct lecturer in the Department of Economics for over twenty years. His passion for sportscars and all things automotive began at young age. As an adult, he has competed in over twelve cross-country rallies, including the Greatrace.

THE ENJOYMENT OF CLASSICAL MUSIC

This will be a lecture-audio-visual course in which members will explore the following questions. What is it about classical music that makes it enjoyable and interesting? Is it possible that you know more about classical music than you realize? Is it possible that classical music is a more important piece of the American culture than you realize? Join Dr. Max Morley for practical and philosophical discussions around these questions.

DR. MAX MORLEY retired from the School of Music at Stephen F. Austin State University in 2009. He held three positions at SFA: 20 years as trumpet specialist; 15 years in Arts Programming and Development; and five years teaching music history and literature. He holds the degrees, BM, MM, and DMA from UNT.

THREE ULTRA-FABULOUS CONTEMPORARY WOMEN PLAYWRIGHTS

In the last decade or so, female playwrights have regularly won high-profile grants and awards for brainy and accessible work. This course would introduce OLLI members to three of the best and most successful members of this group: Sarah Ruhl (Dead Man’s Cell Phone); Annie Baker (John); and Dominique Morisseau (Detroit ’67). The sessions will meld lecture and discussion formats and will presumably be redolent of the verve and bonhomie characteristic of the fine members who regularly register for Dr. Pettit’s courses.

ALEX PETTIT is Professor of English, University Distinguished Teaching Professor, and Affiliated Faculty in Women’s and Gender Studies. He has been teaching at UNT since 1990 and in the EC/OLLI programs since 2008. His essays on modern drama appear regularly in scholarly journals; he is equally at home in the library and the classroom but happier in the latter.

TYPOGRAPHY: ITS HISTORY, TERMINOLOGY, AND APPLICATIONS

When we create documents, signs, or newsletters on a computer, we are using typography. Our choices of fonts and awareness of other factors, such as spacing between letters and between lines of type, can have a considerable influence on the way a message is perceived, something that advertisers and other mass communicators consider carefully. This presentation will include information about the history of lettering, the introduction of movable type, the categories of typefaces, the terminology of typography, and ways to use letterforms correctly and creatively. The contributions of some influential type designers will also be discussed.

JOHN F. NEAL taught journalism and mass communication at the college level for more than 30 years. He received his Ph.D. from The University of North Texas. Dr. Neal has given presentations for the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association and the Association for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication.

WEST DRESSED: FASHIONS INSPIRED BY THE AMERICAN FRONTIER

The American West looms large in our imaginations, with tall tales, spaghetti westerns, and other forms of visual culture creating a fantastical and idealized view of the past. Fashion designers often explore these tropes, shaping, reinforcing, and challenging contemporary ideas through their own interpretations of popular history. Through the holdings of the UNT Texas Fashion Collection, this lecture will examine American, Native American, and international fashion designers whose work encourages us to think more deeply about our own ideas of this larger-than-life history.

MS. ANNETTE BECKER is the director of the UNT Texas Fashion Collection, an archive of nearly 20,000 historic and designer garments and accessories spanning 250 years of fashion history. Ms. Becker holds an MA in Art History from UNT and has professional experience in museums around the country.

THE CASE FOR AN ACTIVE U.S. FOREIGN POLICY ROLE IN THE WORLD

Many Americans have increasingly questioned the rationale for U.S. involvement in world affairs. Alliances with other countries, participation in international organizations such as the United Nations, and supporting foreign democracies all involve costs for the United States; money that some argue could be better spent at home. In this class, we will discuss the benefits to the U.S. that stem from an active U.S. foreign policy engagement with the world and what the world might look like without active American involvement. As part of our discussions, we will explore ways in which American engagement might be made more effective and the cost burden more fairly shared with America’s friends.

DR. MICHAEL GRIEG is a Professor of Political Science at the University of North Texas with a primary research and teaching expertise in international relations. His work explores the forces that cause the outbreak of conflict and the tools that are most effective in transitioning war to a stable peace.

WOMEN AND POLITICS IN THE U.S.

In the last few years, we have had the first female major party presidential candidate and record-breaking numbers of women running for political office. So, have we come a long way, baby? In this course we will examine where women are as voters, office-holders, and candidates, the gender gap in voting, and the concept of representation. We will also look at the results of the 2018 elections.

DR. PATRICIA RICHARD is Trustee Professor Emeritus of Political Science at Ohio University. In her scholarly work, Dr. Richard has written extensively about democracy, elections and campaigns, public opinion, and women’s rights. She recently published Latin American Political Culture: Public Opinion and Democracy with John A. Booth.

FINANCE & BUSINESS

A BRIEF HISTORY OF MONEY FROM 9000 BCE TO 2000 CE

Money is anything that serves as a medium of exchange for carrying out transactions. It may be metal, carved wood, paper, plastic, seashells, cigarettes, or book credit entries. Ancient peoples used mollusk shells (cowries) and strings of beads made from clam shells (wampum). Aztecs used small doll figures made of gold. Egyptians used rings. Africans used knives. Cultures have used rice, bread, or chocolate as money, although not very effectively. Innovations in what serves as money; and how it is fashioned, controlled, and distributed lead to cultural changes that have impacted the rise and decline of nations. Photos of each form of money discussed will be displayed.

LIVING TRUST SEMINAR

Your Living Trust should do all it can to:

- Protect your beneficiaries from losing their inheritance to divorce, lawsuits, creditors, and government claims!
- Avoid Probate and Guardianship!
- Specifically address the different needs of each of your loved ones now, and adjust to their changing needs after you’re gone! (This can include unexpected illness, disability, or drug/alcohol problems!)
- Protect your IRAs and retirement plans which, over time, will likely grow to become the largest assets you leave behind!
- Take advantage of future changes in Estate Tax and Capital Gains Tax Laws!

LEIGH HILTON has helped over 6,000 families protect the assets that they leave to loved ones from divorce, creditors, lawsuits and predators. She has also helped over 350 implement the plans that she has prepared after the death of a loved one and helped over 1,200 families implement the plans prepared by other attorneys. UNDERSTANDING FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE AND BUSINESS VALUE

Sustained business profitability is important to investors, employees, retirees with company pensions or 401(k) plans, and the public, all of whom benefit when firms and the economy perform well. The factors that impact performance and how they are linked are easily accessible to anyone by means of a simple financial model used by most businesses. The goal of a business is to create value in a durable manner, so the important interaction between financial and business strategy will be made clear using examples based on several types of firms. The purpose of the class is to enable participants to extract more understanding when they read business news, watch CEOs or analysts on TV, or peruse annual reports.

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE WORK OF FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT:
THE FATHER OF MODERN AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE

Dubbed “the Father of Modern American Architecture,” Frank Lloyd Wright resisted the dominant design aesthetics popular at the turn of the century and ushered in a new era of uniquely American architecture. In this class, participants will have the opportunity to learn about the 70+ year evolution of Wright’s aesthetic, from his pre-Prairie Style homes of the late 19th century to his design for the Guggenheim Museum, completed in 1959. Participants will explore public and residential examples of Wright’s interior and exterior designs, and by the end of the class, will be able to recognize the key elements that defined Wright’s approach as contextualized within the history of American architectural design.

JESSICA HOGUE developed a passion for Frank Lloyd Wright’s architectural designs after visiting the Pope-Leighey House near Washington D.C. in 2002. Since then, she has visited FLW-designed residences and public buildings throughout Chicago, Illinois and its suburbs, as well as structures in Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Virginia, and Texas.

CHINESE FOOD IN AMERICA:
A FOOD/FAMILY MEMOIR; A TRIBUTE TO MY FATHER

Chinese Food in America is presented as part history, part culture, part race relations and part culinary experience as a food/family memoir in the context of a second generation Chinese American growing up in the United States in the 1940’s to 1950’s. The journey will look at the current popularity of Chinese cuisine with the total number of Chinese restaurants exceeding all the McDonald’s, Burger King’s, Wendy’s, Domino’s and Pizza Hut’s combined. Food considered as Chinese along with their origins both in China and the United States will be described as part of a bi-cultural phenomenon. Chinese Food in America is a tribute to Paul’s father who for much of his life was a waiter in Chinese restaurants.

PAUL LEUNG is an emeritus professor at UNT. He retired from the College of Health and Public Service after more than 45 years of academic life and in the interest of full disclosure, Paul has absolutely no formal credentials or training related to Chinese food in America. Paul does love to eat and has eaten more than his share of Chinese meals along with watching food and cooking shows on the Food and Travel channels and PBS.

LITTLE BIG MYTH: THE BATTLE OF THE WASHITA IN POPULAR CULTURE AND REALITY

This course will discuss the Battle of the Washita, which was George Armstrong Custer’s controversial attack on a Cheyenne village in 1868 in what is now Oklahoma. The battle was portrayed in the 1970 movie Little Big Man as a metaphor for U.S. actions in Vietnam. The reality was quite different, but the battle does serve as an example of the tragic class of cultures during the westward expansion of the United States after the Civil War.

DR. JAMES E MUELLER is a professor of journalism at UNT whose research focuses on 19th century history. The author of three books, Dr. Mueller is currently finishing a biography of George Armstrong Custer that illuminates his success as a writer and self-promoter.

ORIGINS OF CIVILIZATIONS

This course will compare the rise of complex societies in Mesopotamia and Mesoamerica, including the domestication of plants and animals, the emergence of village life and ultimately cities. Factors in these changes include the roles of economy, technology, religion, writing, science, trade, warfare and social stratification. Comparisons of Old World and New World cases lead to discussions of the processes that drive social change as historical frameworks for looking at our civilization today.

HOW DEMOCRACIES FORM AND HOW THEY FAIL

Democracy is today in retreat around the world, after decades of sustained growth. After defining democracy at the political - system level, we will examine several historical “waves” of democracy formation and decline. The historical record helps identify factors and processes that favor the establishment of democracy in nation states, and others that contribute to its failure. Where is democracy at risk of failing today, and is the United States among nations whose democracy is in peril? If so, which factors appear to push us toward or hold us back from the brink of democratic failure.

JOHN A. BOOTH is Regents Professor Emeritus of political science at UNT. His research and teaching at UNT have focused on Latin American politics and public opinion, democratization, and political violence and revolution. He has taught OLLI/Emeritus College courses regularly since 2014, and is a currently a member of the OLLI Advisory Council.

PELELIU: THE LITTLE KNOWN WWII PACIFIC BATTLE

This course will provide background on why Japan entered into the world war. The student will see how the U.S. decided to fight their way across the South Pacific. The focus will be on one strategic battle – the battle of Peleliu, and what it was like for a soldier (both Japanese and American) to fight on a coral atoll in the middle of an ocean. Explained from many interviews with soldiers who fought there, the student will understand from a personal perspective with a new appreciation for the soldiers who fought there.

THE CONCEPT OF JUSTICE IN ANCIENT AND CLASSICAL GREECE

We will trace the evolution of the concept of justice from the writings of Homer in the 8th century B.C. to Aeschylus's trilogy, the "Oresteia," in the 5th century B.C. We will see how the idea changes from one of mere blood revenge to something more like our 21st century view. The writings include "The Iliad," "The Odyssey," and the tragedies "Agamemnon," "The Libation Bearers," and "The Eumenides." Fasten your seat belts; it's a whirlwind ride.

WHY HAS ST. PATRICK’S DAY BECOME A GLOBAL CELEBRATION?

St. Patrick’s death probably on 17th of March has been celebrated at least a thousand years in Ireland. Now the day is celebrated in more countries than any other holiday. An estimated 80 million people worldwide claim Irish ancestry, including 34 million U.S. residents, while other millions want to be Irish on this day. The religious and secular origins, development, and spread worldwide of celebrations will be explored. Initially, religious festivities commemorated St. Patrick’s life for converting the pagan Irish to Christianity on presumed day of his passing sometime during 5th century. In Ireland for centuries the religious holiday focused on families attending church in morning and feasting in afternoon. In the U.S. and other nations, parades and feasting dominate.

VICTORIA’S SECRETS: HOW A QUEEN CHANGED THE WORLD

The “Victorian” era of British history refers to the period of Queen Victoria’s reign from 1837 to 1901. During the sixty year span, England experienced stability, peace, innovation, and staggering industrial progress. This session will explore the juxtaposition of the stereotypical prudish Queen Victoria and a society that experienced great expansion of wealth, power, and invention under her rule. In fashion and architecture, the Victorians left their mark in Great Britain and throughout the world. From crinolines and corsets to balustrades and buttresses, bring your calling card as we deconstruct Victorian design.

Christian beliefs during the period from shortly after Jesus’ crucifixion until the early 4th century, when these beliefs were set down in creeds, were diverse. Debates erupted throughout early Christianity concerning the true nature of God, Jesus and the path to salvation. These lectures will examine several prominent early Christian sects, known collectively as the Gnostics, who were declared heretics by the eventual winner of these debates and whose writings were only recently discovered in 1945 at Nag Hammadi in Egypt.

This course will follow the rise of this famous king and his demise, generally at his own hands. This person, chosen by God to replace the first king, Saul, who has been rejected by the Divine, begins his path to the throne in the service of Saul. Later, he must flee Saul's wrath and become a fugitive. After the death of Saul, he slowly consolidates his power to become the king of the united kingdom of Israel. At the height of his power and influence, called a man after God's own heart, his untoward behavior leads to a decline in moral and political stature. The end of his life and kingship exhibits the tragedy that stems from a series of faulty judgments, if not from the underlying currents in his life.

RUSSELL GREGORY graduated from Oklahoma Baptist University with a major in history. He continued his education as Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in preparation for the ministry. When he discerned that teaching was his real calling, he traveled to Nashville to complete a Ph.D. in Religious studies with a concentration in Hebrew Bible (Old Testament). He eventually taught twenty-five years at Radford University in Virginia and during that time received the Donald Dedmon Award for teaching excellence.

THE SEARCH FOR UNCHANGING TRUTH - PART 1
THE BEGINNING: PRE-SOCRATICS TO PLATO

The search for unchanging truth and its structure has dominated Western thought since the emergence of ancient Greek thought. This concept has been the center of virtually every system of thought ever created. In fact, the concept is embedded in the foundation statement of the founding of our country with the words: “We hold these truths to be self-evident...” This course will explore this pivotal concept at its “birthplace” in the intellectual systems of Socrates and Plato. The course will be presented in narrative summary format, and will NOT be an analysis of the thought of these thinkers. It is structured for those who have no background in philosophy to those to have an extensive background.

MR. ROBERT JACKSON has a lifelong passion for human thought, its structure, its creation and its impact. He has lectured for over 40 years on complex topics and enjoys presenting complex topics in a manner that is understandable, interesting, and enjoyable.

GENETICS AND DNA TECHNOLOGY:
FROM DISEASES TO THE JUSTICE SYSTEM

DNA is a molecule present in all living systems and regulates the characteristics of each living organism on earth. Human DNA studies are conducted to understand diseases, reveal aspects of ancestry, match individuals to crimes and identify victims of a crime. These studies also require the development and use of computer technologies. Thus, the field of genetics and DNA technology is moving so quickly and the information within the popular press can be interesting yet confusing. In this class we will discuss the science of genetics, how DNA technology is used, and the societal impact of DNA technology on individual privacy.

THE MYSTERY AND SCIENCE OF AVIAN MIGRATION

The annual migration of birds has puzzled and fascinated people from the time of the ancient Greeks, who noted the passage of cranes over their homes each spring and fall. Although, it is also true that they thought swallows hibernated each winter by burying themselves in the mud. The scientific understanding of migration has come a ways since then, probably starting with Sir Thomas Bewick who in the 1790’s after talking with sea captains that plied the Mediterranean was the first to propose that the swallows of northern Europe flew to North Africa each winter. Our knowledge of the phenomenon has grown much deeper in the last 200 years, but that hasn’t diminished the wonder. Learn about the history, the hows, the whys and the state of science’s understanding for one of nature’s most amazing annual cycles.

LEARN THE ART OF STRESS MANAGEMENT WITH YOGA AND AYURVEDA SCIENCES

Is stress playing a bigger role in your life than you would like it to? For most of us, the answer to that question is a resounding YES! Stress is a fairly universal element of the modern human experience. Yoga and Ayurveda offer many helpful tools for reducing stress and enhancing wellness. During this course, members will learn regular and restorative yoga postures, pranayama (energizing and breathing exercises), affirmations, meditation, and prayer as tools to better manage life stress. Ayurveda shines in its capacity to distill a host of complex maladies into an elegantly simple collection of qualitative patterns, which help to illuminate a clear path toward healing for each individual. The Ayurvedic approach to managing stress is a beautiful example of this. Members should bring yoga mats to class if possible.

PREVENTIVE HEALTH CARE IN GERIATRICS THROUGH AYURVEDA

In humans, ageing refers to a multidimensional process of physical, psychological, and social change. Reaction time, for example, may slow with age, while knowledge of world events and wisdom may expand. Ageing is an important part of all human societies reflecting the biological changes that occur, but also reflecting cultural and societal conventions. Ageing is among the largest known risk factors for most human diseases. This course will endow each student and educate them on the essence of Ayurveda while giving them the practical knowledge of Ayurveda’s innumerable gears and practices for maintaining health. This course is also useful for caregivers and for all those who wish to age with grace and vitality. This course will introduce members and care givers to the basic principles of Ayurveda, the science of self-healing. Course content will include Ayurvedic constitutional types and daily practices, including food, herbal medicine, self-body massage, and yoga, as well as their application for better health. Each session will include one practical component such as learning to make healthy food for geriatric, practicing yoga, and meditation techniques.

THINKING ONESELF INTO OLD AGE

By the time we reach the second half of life, our psychological age is more significant and influential than our chronological age. This presentation addresses the psychological, physical, and cultural reasons some seniors become old in body and mind early, even to the point of hastening their deaths, while others remain youthful and vibrant for years beyond their greatest expectations.

DR. MILO F. BENNINGFIELD graduated with a doctorate in psychology and college teaching from UNT. He had a practice in individual and family therapy in Dallas for thirty-five years. Today he lives in Frisco, Texas, and he is continuing writing, lecturing, and consulting with individuals and families.

SPECIAL INTEREST GROUPS

Meet like-minded OLLI at UNT members by joining one of our Special Interest Groups (SIGs). SIGs are independent groups of members who plan their own activities throughout the semester. Each group is led by a member (or members) who serves as SIG Chair. To join a SIG, complete our Enrollment Form, sign up within the Member Portal, or send an email request to olli@unt.edu. By doing so, you agree to begin receiving emails related to the SIG.

LOCAL ACTIVITIES

Day Trippers
SIG CHAIRS: JIM GOODNOW & DIANA MASON

Members of this group will take day trips in the area together one time per month during the OLLI at UNT academic semester. Trips being planned for the Spring include:

- Monday, February 25: UNT Campus Tour and attendance at band rehearsal.
- Saturday, March 23: Museum of the American Railroad in Frisco, TX.
- Saturday, April 13: Bluebonnet Festival in Ennis, TX.
- Wednesday, April 24: Dallas Zoo.

Join this SIG to receive email updates on the status of these trips.

Theatre Group
SIG CHAIRS: JONATHAN HALL, DONNA ZELISKO-MCLAUGHLIN

The purpose of this group is to inform members of upcoming theatre productions in the DFW area, encourage members to attend live theatre events, participate in follow-up discussions, and recommend topics and speakers that enhance members’ knowledge of the art and history of the theatre.

This SIG will meet quarterly in conjunction with semester kickoffs.

BOOK CLUBS

Frisco Belles Lettres Book Club NEW!
SIG CHAIR: JUDITH YARBOURGH

Members of this book group read and share opinion and insight regarding literary classics of both older and more recent vintage. Meetings are held the second Wednesday in February, March, and April in UNT New College at Frisco Room 114 from 10:00 am-11:30 am.

- Wednesday, February 13: Nobel Prize winning The Remains of the Day, by Kazuo Ishiguro.
- Books two and three will be chosen by the Club.

Great Books
SIG CHAIR: DONNA ZELISKO-MCLAUGHLIN

Readers know that life’s next adventure can begin in a book. And book group participants know that lifelong learning is about opportunities to explore, reflect, and connect. There is joy in reading a good book and sharing one’s perceptions with others. The members of this book club explore a category of literature called “great books.”

Meets on the fourth Friday of the month from 2:30-4:00 pm at the Denton South Branch Library.

Twisted Book Club
SIG CHAIR: REBECCA FRIDLEY

Meetings are held on Thursdays from 2:00 - 3:30pm in the OLLI at UNT office at 1716 Scripture Street in Denton.
