Lifelong Learning in Denton, Flower Mound, and Frisco

940-369-7293  |  olli.unt.edu  |  olli@unt.edu
Since 2009, the University of North Texas in Denton has offered a lifelong learning program with non-credit courses, events, special interest groups, and trips designed by and for adults 50 and better. Our program began under the leadership of Dr. James R. Miller (1926 - 2011), former Dean of UNT’s College of Education. Under the leadership of our current Director, Dr. Stephanie Reinke, our program has grown to include over 700 members and now offers more than 350 courses each year in five classroom locations located in Denton, Flower Mound, and Frisco.

Our program is part of a network of 123 Osher Lifelong Learning Institutes across the United States. Thanks to the support we receive from our members, UNT President Neal Smatresk, and the Bernard Osher Foundation, which seeks to improve quality of life through support for higher education and the arts, this great resource will be a part of our community for many years to come.
As the Persian poet Rumi expressed in the quote above, the true value in seeking out things that inspire you is that you will never be led astray. This fall, OLLI at UNT has put together such a wide variety of courses, events, special lectures and travel opportunities that we are sure each of you will find many such inspirations. With 112 different courses to choose from this fall, there is something for everyone! Enjoy perusing this catalog to discover the pull of new interests.

In addition to the 112 courses taught by 64 faculty members this fall, we have created three exemplary lecture series. Our popular OLLI After 5:00 lecture series (Page 22), where members are treated to complimentary wine and cheese, is packed with amazing presenters that will leave you inspired in ways you can’t imagine. Come listen to Beverly Bass, the first female captain of an American Airlines aircraft and pilot of the Boeing 777 on September 11th, 2001 that was ordered to land in Newfoundland. The experiences of this diversionary landing and what followed inspired the award-winning Canadian musical Come from Away. Our other OLLI After 5:00 presenters are equally as inspirational. This fall, UNT’s Psychology Department will be presenting the Lunch and Learn lecture series (Page 20). The lectures that are a part of this series are top-notch and you will not want to miss them. You may be surprised to learn how the discipline of psychology relates to important issues in our world. For example, Dr. Dick Rogers, a leading authority on Miranda law in the US, will discuss how misconceptions about Miranda Rights impact the public. An additional three-part lecture series, Spotlight on Civics (Page 29), will give a great overview of the three branches of government and will be taught by three incredible political science professors.

Experiential learning is one of the key ways OLLI at UNT members absorb new information and this fall there will be several opportunities to “learn by doing,” including our special chartered bus trip to the Chickasaw Cultural Center to learn about native American history. Find more details about this and other special events on pages 18-20 of this catalog. Next year (2020) is going to be a great year of travel for OLLI at UNT. We will be going to see the northern lights in Finland, exploring sunny Portugal and visiting New York City as it is decorated for the Christmas holiday. Come join us as OLLI at UNT members participate in lifelong learning through special events and travel destinations.

OLLI at UNT has quickly become the premiere lifelong learning program in the North Texas region with members from over 52 different towns. Our members inform the direction of the program and we welcome your feedback at any time. Come by our OLLI at UNT home located at 1716 Scripture Street in Denton and let’s sit down with a cup of coffee or tea and talk about whatever is on your mind. Our door is open.

I hope that through OLLI at UNT, this fall brings you inspiration as you seek out meaningful ways to spend your time during this magical season of change.

Together for the love of learning,

MEMBER BENEFITS AND RESOURCES

Faculty Handouts
Some of our faculty members may choose to make handouts available to members. When we receive handouts from faculty, we post them on our website: ollinet.edu/handouts.

Member Portal Guide
Want to learn how to navigate your way around the Member Portal like a pro? Go to our website (ollinet.edu/members) and download our illustrated Member Portal Guide, which contains step-by-step instructions on how to perform many specific tasks within the Portal.

Member Lounge
Our location at 1716 Scripture Street in Denton includes a member lounge! During the semester, we invite you to come in, have a cup of coffee, and look through our free library. This is a great place to relax before or after class, or whenever you happen to be in the area.

UNT Willis Library Card
OLLI at UNT members are eligible to obtain a UNT library card with borrowing privileges at Willis Library (1506 Highland St., Denton, TX 76203). Contact ollinet.edu@unt.edu to request your library card.

UNT Pohl Recreation Center
OLLI at UNT members may purchase rec center memberships at the UNT Faculty/Staff rates: $99 for one semester, $198 for two semesters, or $264 for a year. Contact 940-565-2275 or recrec@unt.edu for more information.

UNT Bookstore
Members may present their OLLI at UNT ID card at the Barnes & Noble bookstore on UNT’s Denton campus for a 10% discount.

UNT Fine Arts Performances
OLLI at UNT members are granted discounted or complimentary tickets for select performances by the College of Music and Dance & Theatre Department. We inform all members about opportunities for great ticket deals.

UNT Lecture Series
OLLI at UNT members are granted discounted tickets to select lecture series presented by UNT, such as the Distinguished Lecture Series and the Kuehne Speakers Series. We inform members as soon as these tickets become available.

Lewisville Lake Symphony
OLLI at UNT members may purchase tickets to select Symphony performances for the discounted price of $18. Members will receive email notification of available performances, along with the special code required to claim the discounted rate when purchasing tickets online.

Mr. Chopsticks
OLLI at UNT members can receive a 10% discount at the Mr. Chopsticks restaurant in Denton, which is located just across the street from our office and classroom on 1716 Scripture Street.

All members who join OLLI at UNT will receive an ID card in the mail. We order these IDs in batches and then mail them once they arrive. We thank you in advance for your patience, as this process can sometimes take a few weeks.
MEMBER PARTICIPATION

Participation in OLLI at UNT can mean much more than attending classes and enjoying other activities. It can also mean volunteering to help plan, direct, advise and grow the program. Every member is encouraged to consider serving as an OLLI at UNT Ambassador, nominating someone for election to the Advisory Council, or joining a Standing Committee.

Standing Committees

• Communications & Marketing Committee
• Curriculum Committee
• Membership & Nominations Committee

Ambassadors

Our Ambassadors are volunteers who spread the word about OLLI at UNT at events and group meetings in our community. We provide Ambassadors with special training and official promotional materials.

To learn more about how to get involved, visit olli.unt.edu/volunteer.

Advisory Council

The nine member OLLI at UNT Advisory Council works hand in hand with the OLLI at UNT Director to review and evaluate policies and operations. The Council also works to provide strategic planning that ensures successful program growth and quality that closely aligns with the needs of the OLLI at UNT membership. All those who serve on the Council must be elected by the OLLI at UNT membership. Terms of service are two years (five members elected in even numbered years and four in odd numbered years), with the possibility of serving a second consecutive term.

Officer elections will take place at the

olli.unt.edu/podcast

Join Susan this fall as she conducts another series of fascinating interviews with the members, faculty, and staff who contribute to the continued success of the OLLI at UNT program. Whether you want to learn more about how the program works behind-the-scenes or dive even deeper into your favorite professor’s latest research project, this podcast is for you. We appreciate everyone who listened to the podcast during the first season and shared it with family and friends. Our podcast received recognition from the Osher National Resource Center and our episodes in Season 1 have been played nearly 2,000 times!

Susan Supak was previously the host of the Library Out Loud interview series at Albert Wisner Public Library in Warwick, NY. Since relocating to Texas with her husband, she has become an enthusiastic member and supporter of OLLI at UNT.

ENROLLMENT INSTRUCTIONS

NEW MEMBERS

If you haven’t yet joined OLLI at UNT as a member, you can purchase your membership and enroll in courses and events at the same time on our website: olli.unt.edu/register.

If you prefer to register by mail, you should submit a Membership Registration Form, payment for your membership fees, and an Enrollment Form to the mailing address listed on the forms. These forms are available for download on our website: olli.unt.edu/register. Want to receive these forms in the mail? Submit a document request at olli.unt.edu/request.

CURRENT MEMBERS

If you already have an active OLLI at UNT membership, you can enroll in courses and events online using the Member Portal, which is available at olli.unt.edu/members, along with our Member Portal Guide. The Guide is illustrated with photos and includes step-by-step instructions on how to perform many specific tasks within the portal.

Current members can also enroll in courses and events through the mail by submitting an Enrollment Form (available at olli.unt.edu/register). Want to receive this form by mail? Submit a document request at olli.unt.edu/request.

ENROLLMENT PERIOD

You may purchase an OLLI at UNT membership at any time during the year. Your annual membership begins on the day of purchase and includes three consecutive semesters. Pre-enrollment is required for courses and events. Some events may have specific enrollment deadlines, otherwise we simply ask that you enroll as early as possible, so that we may anticipate the number of members in attendance for courses and events.

COURSE & EVENT FEES

If you join at the $55 Annual Membership level, a fee of $10 applies to each course in which you enroll. The fee is $10 no matter how many sessions are included in the course. Fees should be paid when you enroll in the course, either by mail or online. The staff at our satellite locations cannot accept any OLLI at UNT payments. Our OLLI After 5:00 and Lunch & Learn lecture series are complimentary for all members. The price of other events will vary. We offer complimentary events for members whenever possible.

CANCELLATIONS

If you ever need to cancel your participation in a course or event, please do so by contacting our office at olli@unt.edu or 940-369-7293. We may be able to move another member off of the waitlist!

A Comparison Between Victorian Architecture & Frank Lloyd Wright's Prairie Style at the Bayless-Selby House

with Jessica Hogue

Frank Lloyd Wright resisted the design aesthetics popular during the Victorian period and ushered in a new era of uniquely American architecture. For this special event, members will have the opportunity to learn about the evolution of FLW’s Prairie Style aesthetic as a reaction against the architectural trends of the turn of the century, while engaging directly with the Bayless-Selby House, a Denton example of the Victorian Queen Anne style. Members will receive a thirty minute interior and exterior (weather-permitting) tour of the Bayless-Selby House and will then engage in a discussion contrasting Wright’s aesthetic and personal philosophy against the predominant culture and values of his time.

Free for all members.
Two opportunities to attend:
Monday, September 30; 10:00am - 11:30am
Monday, November 4; 10:00am - 11:30am

请注：The tour will require standing for thirty minutes. Space is restricted due to the limited capacity of the house. This tour is being offered twice during the semester to accommodate as many members as possible.

UNT Sky Theater

Europe to the Stars takes the viewer on an epic journey behind the scenes at the most productive ground-based observatory in the world, revealing the science, the history, the technology and the people. Discover the European Southern Observatory in a story of cosmic curiosity, courage and perseverance; a story of observing a Universe of deep mysteries and hidden secrets; and a story of designing, building and operating the most powerful ground-based telescopes on the planet. The movie focuses on the essential aspects of an astronomical observatory, while offering a broader view of how astronomy is done, from site-testing to locate the best places in the world for observing the sky, to how telescopes are built and what mysteries of the universe astronomers are revealing.

Free for all members.

LUNCH & LEARN
LECTURE SERIES

Bring your own lunch into the Robson Ranch Clubhouse and enjoy a lecture from 11:45am - 12:45pm.

Featuring faculty from:

How to Live with Gratitude and Appreciation
Tuesday, September 10

We all have things to be thankful for. However, more often than not, we tend to focus on the negative. In this lecture, Professor Hook will first discuss some common barriers to gratitude. In other words, why is it so hard to be grateful? Then, he will share some practical strategies for how we can live our daily lives with higher levels of gratitude and appreciation.

Joshua N. Hook, PhD, is an Associate Professor of Counseling Psychology at the UNT, where he teaches Multicultural Counseling. He is also a licensed clinical psychologist in the state of Texas. His research interests include positive psychology (e.g., humility, gratitude, & forgiveness), religion/spirituality, and multicultural counseling. He has written over 200 journal articles and book chapters, as well as 6 books, including Cultural Humility: Engaging Diverse Identities in Therapy, and Replanted: Faith-Based Support for Adoptive and Foster Families. He also blogs regularly about psychology and faith at www.JoshuaNHook.com.

Do You Know your Miranda Rights? Common Misconceptions and their Relevance to Police Questioning
Tuesday, September 17

Members of the public and criminal defendants often share profound misconceptions about Miranda warnings and their 5th Amendment rights against self-incrimination. This lecture will provide a brief background about Ernesto Miranda and the U.S. Supreme Court decision as it relates to police practices. The role of forensic psychologists in Miranda cases will be briefly addressed as it relates to justice.

Richard Rogers, Ph.D., ABPP, is a Regents Professor of Psychology at UNT. His previous academic appointments included key positions in the Section on Psychiatry and Law, Rush University, and the Division of Forensic Psychiatry, University of Toronto. Dr. Rogers completed a decade of federal grant support in 2015 from National Science Foundation as a principal investigator examining Miranda warnings and waivers. His programmatic research led to the development of Miranda measures (SAMA) and was relied on by the American Bar Association in its call for national reform of juvenile Miranda warnings.

UNT Theatre Performances

Private Lives
Sunday, October 6, 2:00pm

Private Lives is one of the most sophisticated, entertaining plays ever written. Elyot and Amanda, once married and now honeymooning with new spouses at the same hotel, meet by chance, reignite the old spark and impulsively elope. After days of being reunited, they again find their fiery romance alternating between passions of love and anger. Their aggrieved spouses appear and a roundelay of affiliations ensues as the women first stick together, then apart, and new partnerships are formed. Private Lives is presented by special arrangement with SAMUEL FRENCH, INC.

Nathan the Wise
Sunday, November 10, 2:00pm

Nathan the Wise is the Western classic on religious tolerance. It offers a vision of Jews, Christian and Muslims as People of the Book, united by a shared and revered text, mutually respectful, giving one another rich gifts of particularity. Produced by special arrangement with THE DRAMATIC PUBLISHING COMPANY of Woodstock, Illinois.

Understanding the Psychological and Neurobiological Nature of Resilience
Thursday, October 3

Resilience has become an important topic throughout all levels of science, yet it remains a somewhat elusive concept, and moreover, new research on resilience has not fully reached the general public. In this lecture, an empirical definition of resilience will be presented, and the psychological and neurobiological benefits of resilience that are being uncovered via scientific research will be discussed. Taken together, the lecture will help members understand how they can become more resilient in their daily lives.

Dr. Craig Neumann has been active teaching and conducting research in the Clinical Psychology Graduate Training Program at UNT for over 20 years. He has published over 100 peer-reviewed journal articles and been invited to share his research in dozens of book chapters. His research has substantial international impact and he has been consistently funded by The William H. Donner Foundation. In 2018 Dr. Neumann was selected for the UNT Distinguished Research Professor Award.

Your Lyin’ Eyes: The Psychology of Eyewitness Identification and Wrongful Convictions
Tuesday, October 15

In the time it takes you to read this sentence, a crime is being committed. Without eyewitnesses, millions of these crimes would go unsolved. In fact, eyewitness testimony is one of the most important pieces of evidence against the accused. But are eyewitnesses ever wrong, and if so, how and why are they wrong? This interactive lecture will apply psychological research to a true crime that hinged on one victim’s compelling testimony. A simulated lineup exercise will have you questioning your own memory and ability to serve as a reliable eyewitness. Come learn about your “lyin’ eyes,” the seeds they plant in your memories, and what law enforcement can do to increase eyewitness reliability.

Kristal Clayton earned her Ph.D. in Experimental Social Psychology in 2009. She is also a music and documentary junkie who happens to be a Clinical Associate Professor of Psychology at UNT. Prior to UNT, Kristal was a tenured Associate Professor at Western Kentucky University from 2009—2018. Currently, Kristal is a consulting editor for the Journal of General Psychology and an author for SAGE Publications to develop cutting-edge teaching materials and textbooks both in print and online.

Memory and Brain Health as You Age: Understanding Changes and Dispelling Myths
Thursday, November 14

Did you know that your memories are not a fixed set of information like files in a filing cabinet? Rather, your memories are the result of a set of highly active brain processes which constantly shape and reshape your experiences and integrate knowledge across the adult life-span. Advances in cognitive and developmental psychology and neuroscience continue to provide important insights into the mind-body-brain relationships involved in healthy memory aging.

The first goal of this lecture is to provide an approachable understanding of normal brain and behavioral changes that occur across the adult lifespan with respect to memory and related cognitive abilities. Second, Dr. Royals and Ms. Kelly will discuss ways in which memory and overall cognitive functioning may actually be strengthened and improved through simple strategies and exercise (both mental and physical). Finally, they will share evidence-based findings to help dispel myths and stereotypes associated with memory and aging, thus aiming to empower individuals toward memory and brain health.

Dr. Anthony Ryals joined the Behavioral Science Program in the Department of Psychology at UNT in the Fall of 2016. Prior to that, he completed his Graduate training in Cognitive Psychology at Colorado State University in Fort Collins, and he completed a four-year Postdoctoral Fellowship at Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine in Chicago. His research interests include explicit and implicit human memory, metamemory, cognitive neuroscience, traumatic memory, and unusual cognitive states.

Megan Kelly is a PhD student in the behavioral science program at UNT. She completed her bachelor’s degree at Providence College and has been at UNT for two years. Her interests include attention and memory, and specifically the experiences of daydreaming, mind wandering, and dissociation. She is currently preparing to defend her master’s thesis before beginning her dissertation.

These lectures are available at no additional cost for all members of OLLI at UNT!

Get It Right Today, Not Tomorrow
Thursday, September 5

All too often we operate in Survival Mode - doing just enough to get the job done rather than doing a good job. Our goals are simply to endure the daily challenges, keep our heads above water and make it to the end of the week. Sound familiar? Individuals who routinely focus on surviving rather than thriving tend to be disengaged and unfulfilled. Organizations with Survival Mode cultures lose millions of dollars in productivity and struggle to achieve long-term profits and lasting success. “Get It Right Today, Not Tomorrow” serves as a wake-up call. An eye-opening presentation that won’t be forgotten, it powerfully dispels the notion that there will always be a tomorrow in which we can finish today’s important yet unfinished business. Weaving her inspirational story of tragedy, survival and recovery with solid business content, Mercedes challenges and changes the way people think and act. Her up-front dialogue, true-life examples and on-the-job application of real-world lessons will move members to work and live with intention.

Mercedes Ramirez Johnson narrowly survived a commercial airplane crash that killed 160 people, including her parents. She presents her proprietary Second Chance Living concept, an innovative mindset and approach with a proven track record, to organizations such as General Electric, ExxonMobil, Microsoft, NASA, Chevron, and the various branches of the US Armed Forces. Mercedes and her story have been the subject of considerable national and international media coverage.

Current Perspectives on Near-Death Experiences
Thursday, September 12

After surviving a close brush with death, about one in five people report having had a near-death experience (NDE): a typically very real experience of their consciousness functioning apart from their physical body, perceiving the material world an/or transmaterial entities and domains such as deceased loved ones. These experiences provoke questions about the nature of consciousness and its survival of physical death. In this lecture, Dr. Holden will summarize over 40 years of research on this phenomenon and its implications for an understanding of consciousness.

Janice Miner Holden, EdD has been a member of the UNT Counseling Program faculty since 1988, where she is currently professor of Counseling. Beginning with her doctoral dissertation, Jan's primary research focus has been counseling implications of near-death experiences, after-death communication, and other transpersonal experiences—those that transcend the usual personal limits of space, time, and/or identity. In this research area she has over 70 publications and over 100 national and international presentations.

Dynamics of Child Abuse and Key Trends
Tuesday, October 8

From the US Gymnastics Team to the Catholic Church, it seems like reports of child sexual abuse have skyrocketed lately. Attend this lecture to learn the dynamics of abuse: who is committing these crimes, how do they do it, and what can we do to stop it? In addition to the dynamics, members will also learn about the trends in the field. From child sex trafficking to the impact of social media, there is much to learn to keep your family and community safe.

Kristen Howell, LMSW, is the Chief Executive Officer of the Children’s Advocacy Center of Denton County. The Advocacy Center coordinates the investigation, prosecution and mental health services for cases of severe child abuse in Denton County, serving approximately 1500 children and families a year. Kristen has worked in the field of social work and family violence for the last 23 years. She graduated from Baylor University with a Bachelor’s in Social Work and the University of North Carolina with her MSW.
Pompeo Luigi Coppini:
Defining the Historic Landscape of Texas
Thursday, October 24

Pompeo L. Coppini played a significant role in the “re-branding” of Texas during the first half of the twentieth century. During the first decade, heritage organizations were having monuments erected to the Confederate States of America and its veterans. Coppini became one of their favorite sculptors, and his statues can be found on the Capitol grounds in Austin and in many other locations. When state officials decided to refocus the popular image of Texas from southern to western in the Progressive Era, they hired Coppini to sculpt a new pantheon of heroes. As the Texas Centennial approached, Coppini was employed again to produce statues for the Hall of State at Fair Park and the Cenotaph at the Alamo, as well as the official commemorative coin issued by the United States Mint. Since there are more than five dozen Coppini statues extant in Texas, it can be argued that the historical images most Texans have in mind were created by him. More important, the fact that most of his work honors the Republic of Texas and other non-Confederate aspects of the Lone Star State provides a good insight into why Texas today is identified more with the Alamo and the Republic of Texas than cotton and the Confederacy.

Richard B. McCaslin, PhD, is the author or editor of eighteen books. One of the best known is Tainted Breeze: The Great Hanging at Gainesville, Texas, October 1862, which won the Tullis Prize and an AASLH commendation. Dr. McCaslin is a TSHA Endowed Professor of Texas History at UNT. He graduated with a BA from Delta State University, earned his MA from Louisiana State University, and received his PhD from the University of Texas at Austin in 1988.

The Effects of 9/11 on the Small Town of Gander, Newfoundland
Tuesday, October 29

One of the history-making results of the 9/11 attack on our country was the closure of US airspace for the first time in the nearly hundred-year existence of American aviation. Nancy Glick will tell of the effects this decision had on the people in the small town of Gander, Newfoundland. She will describe how the town provided for 7,000 unexpected guests who landed in 38 commercial airliners that day. Nancy’s short review will be based on the book by author Jim Defede, The Day the World Came to Town. Beverley Bass will share her personal experiences as the Captain of an American Airline 777, which touched down in Gander on 9/11. She will relate how she, her crew, and her passengers spent the next four days as guests of the “Newfies” before being allowed to return to DFW. Beverley will describe how those experiences, which resulted in a Broadway play and a children’s book, have continued to shape her life.

Nancy Glick moved to Denton in 1972 to accept a faculty position at Texas Woman’s University in the Department of Dental Hygiene. She remained on the faculty there for thirty-four years, fifteen of which she served as department chair. Since retiring, Nancy has enjoyed more time for family, travel, and reading-for-pleasure. She and her husband Ed have also enjoyed being charter OLLI at UNT members, beginning when it was known as Emeritus College. Nancy likes learning more about subjects she never had time to fit into her degree plans while she was a college student herself.

Captain Beverley Bass was the first female captain of an American Airlines aircraft. She was hired in 1976 by American Airlines as their third female pilot. In October 1986, Bass became the first female captain at American Airlines and later that year became the captain of American Airlines’ first all-female crew. She flew the B-727, MD 80, DC 10, B757, B767 and B-777. She retired after an incredible unblemished 32 year career with the world’s largest airline.

These lectures are available at no additional cost for all members of OLLI at UNT!

Jazz: How to Love It, Understand It, & Live It!
Tuesday, November 12

This lecture and live performance will attempt to unravel the mysteries of jazz in a way that will engage the audience to understand how jazz is relative to everyday life.

Brad Leali is the Associate Professor of jazz saxophone at UNT. Leali received his bachelor’s degree in music education from UNT and his Master’s degree from Rutgers University. Leali has been lead alto saxophonist and musical director for the Harry Connick Jr. Orchestra as well as a member of the Count Basie Orchestra. Most recently, he has accepted the featured saxophone solo chair with the Lyle Lovett Orchestra.

Carla Helmbrecht is a Grammy-nominated singer/song-writer, who began her love affair with music at the age of eight. Carla has enjoyed living in San Francisco since 1997. She has performed on notable recordings with a host of world-class musicians, including, One For My Baby (1994), Be Cool Be Kind (2001), Here’s To Love (2004) and Quiet Intentions (2012).

ARTS & HUMANITIES

American/British Folk Art Workshop and Home Tour

In session 1 of this course, members will experience a hands-on workshop in which they view and learn about different forms of American and British folk art and actually produce a folk art silhouette. In session 2, members will take a field trip to Dr. Laney’s home to view his collection of American and British folk art.

Dr. James D. Laney is a tenured Full Professor and Chair of the Department of Teacher Education and Administration at UNT. His research and writings are in the area of social studies education and arts integration in grades EC-12. He is an avid collector of 19th century American and British folk art.

An Afternoon with Folk Tales and Fairy Tales

In this course, members will hear stories, some familiar and some foreign, which will remind them of the power of story. Many of us as children, or later, had favorite stories which captivated us. That story had embedded within it some meaning that consciously or unconsciously spoke to us and helped us in some way. From time to time, those lessons along with the story rise up in us. We’ll see if that happens again.

Russell Gregory graduated magna cum laude from Oklahoma Baptist University with a major in history. He continued his education as Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in preparation for the ministry. When he discerned that teaching was his real calling, he traveled to Nashville to complete a Ph.D. in Religious studies with a concentration in Hebrew Bible (Old Testament). He eventually taught 25 years at Radford University in Virginia.

Horror in Literature

In this course, there will be discussion and teaching on horror in literature throughout the ages. One to two books will be assigned for reading by the members, or appropriate suggestions given by members will also be acceptable. Analysis will be performed by the members on not only how horror is written and perceived during the specific writing, but how the concept has changed over time from the Bible to modern day. There will also be discussion during each session on the horror genre itself, and how this concept has changed over time, including up to modern day.

Gavin Cox has completed a Master’s degree in Literature and is currently working on a Doctorate in Literature at UTD. He has led informal discussions on literature, and currently teaches at Collin County Community College.

How Did They Do That?
A Jazz Guitar Primer for Listeners

This course will include a live demonstration of the basic sounds and techniques of jazz guitar, including achieving a ‘jazz’ sound, solo arrangements, and bebop basics. Members will come away with a better sense of what they are hearing in music they enjoy.

Maristella Feustle is the Music Special Collections Librarian at the University of North Texas. She oversees the processing and curation of over 100 special collections in the UNT Music Library, and her research interests include jazz history and digital humanities. She is active as a jazz guitarist in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, occasionally doubling on banjo, ukulele, mandolin, and lute.

Indian Diaspora Writing in English: Salman Rushdie and Jhumpa Lahiri

Today 'Indians' and 'immigration' have almost become synonymous terms, as every year, a large number of people migrate to different parts of the world in pursuit of a better life, security, and social status. How does it feel, the whole experience of leaving everything which 'belongs' to you, and moving to a new world? Is acclimating and adjusting in a new culture, a new milieu, so easy? Famous fiction writers like Salman Rushdie and Jhumpa Lahiri have profusely reflected on these concerns in their writings. This course will cover some interesting aspects of their fiction writing which will amaze you, make you laugh, yet also might touch some sentimental cords about human angst and optimism!

Richa Yadav is a freelance writer. Almost two decades back, when she moved to the US, she was naive to the culture and had pressing questions about everything she did, everywhere she went. She had stories to tell but no one around to listen. She has been writing blogs since then.

Jane Austen's Novels: Northanger Abbey

Using fictional styles of her day but with a twist, in Northanger Abbey, Austen pens a parody of gothic fiction. It is a lesser known of Austen's works; still it has been made into a movie by PBS and has lessons for us even today. This will be a review and critique of the story. It is not necessary to read the book or watch the movie, but the course will allow time for give and take about the book.

“Janus”: A Short Story by Ann Beattie

This course will be a guided discussion of Ann Beattie’s “Janus,” a brilliant short story about a woman in a loveless marriage who has an affair but decides to remain with her husband. The story will be provided to members in advance. Further information about Beattie can be found here: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ann_Beattie

My Life as a Musician and 30-Year Leader of The Guy Lombardo Royal Canadians

Founded in 1919, the Lombardo Orchestra is the longest running act in show business history, with over 500 hit songs to its credit – more than any other musical organization. After the 1977 death of Guy Lombardo, his world-renowned orchestra fell silent for more than a decade. In 1989 the legend was revived as Al Pierson of Big Band U.S.A. was given the opportunity to rejuvenate the styles and musical library of the dormant Lombardo Orchestra.

Al Pierson earned his Master's Degree in Music Theory and Composition at Illinois State University. He taught music in both the high school and college settings for 15 years before going on the road with his band, Big Band U.S.A., in 1974. In 1976 he was inducted into the “Ballroom Dancers’ Hall of Fame” by receiving the most recorded votes in the history of big band. Since picking up Guy Lombardo’s baton in 1989, Pierson has gained ever greater acclaim through his recreation of Guy’s original band, all the while retaining his own identity.

The American Musical: Theatre, Film, & Television

This course will consist of an audio/visual lecture on the American Musical from 1866 to the present. It will feature discussions of more than 90 musicals, their composers, lyricists, actors, actresses, and especially the music. Members should expect to hear interesting information and the best songs from the past 100 years from the American Musical.

Dr. Max Morley retired from the School of Music at Stephen F. Austin State University in 2009. He held three positions at SFA: 20 years as trumpet specialist; 15 years in Arts Programming and Development; and five years teaching music history and literature. He holds the degrees, BM, MM, and DMA from UNT.

Persecution in the Gothic Novel

Taking stock of the so-called Gothic novel in English literature and the German “Schreckensroman” between 1790 and 1830, Dr. Waltje will scrutinize some selected texts that deal with one motif in particular, namely that of persecution. This course will cover William Godwin’s Caleb Williams, James Hogg’s Private Memoirs and Confessions of a Justified Sinner, Mary Shelley’s Frankenstein, and the German novel Der Genius (a.k.a. Horrid Mysteries) by Carl Grosse in their historical and sociological contexts. These novels can be considered truly “paranoiac texts,” borrowing a phrase coined by David Punter. The distinctive feature of these books is that their narrator is persecuted for various reasons by powers that he cannot defeat or avoid.

Jörg Waltje, PhD, is the Executive Director of the Center for Faculty Excellence at Texas Woman’s University. He holds a Ph.D. in comparative literature from the University of Colorado at Boulder. He is also the author of Blood Obsession: Vampires, Serial Murder, and the Popular Imagination.

The History of Sound Recording

This course will combine an overview of the history of sound recording formats and their playback devices with demonstrations of both, utilizing the UNT Music Library’s collections. Special emphasis will be given to phonograph cylinders, shellac 78rpm discs, and reproducing player piano rolls. Members will learn about the confluence of factors which drove these technological developments and enjoy vintage music reproduction.

David Huff is a musician and sound engineer who has worked in the DFW area since 1996. His work includes freelancing as a bassist and vocalist as well as live sound and recording. He is the Sound Preservationist for the UNT Music Library, where he performs digitization and restoration of legacy media sound recordings in the library’s collections. David is also a doctoral candidate in music theory at UNT’s College of Music and is currently completing a dissertation on the analysis of electroacoustic music.

The History of the Blues

The music genre of the blues has a rich history that comes from an African heritage, brought through the cotton fields of the south and up to Chicago. Unfortunately, the blues is a forgotten genre that is not specifically popular. In this course, members will watch film clips and listen to recordings of the blues from the turn of the century to today and see how many rock and roll artists and groups got their influence from the blues.

Bill Ford is a Principal lecturer in Advertising at UNT, however, he was the lead singer in a Dallas blues band (Bona Fide Blues) for 14 years. During that time, he interacted with many other blues musicians, learned the background of the musicians and songs his band chose to play.
The Music of Brahms, Debussy, & Ravel with the Paintings of The Academics and The Impressionists

The music of Johannes Brahms immediately preceded the music of Claude Debussy & Maurice Ravel. The paintings of Academic & Victorian Classicism immediately preceded the paintings of Impressionism. In this course, members will hear music by Brahms, Debussy, and Ravel coupled with more than 120 paintings. Dr. Morley will focus his discussion on how the stylistic changes in these eras were caused by the musical and visual artist’s reaction to the political, economic, religious, and philosophical forces that shaped their lives at the turn of the 20th century.

The Oscars of Fashion: The Neiman Marcus Award and Its Cultural Impact

Starting in 1938, the Dallas-based department store Neiman Marcus recognized both American and international figures with the Neiman Marcus Distinguished Service in the Field of Fashion Award. Colloquially dubbed the “Oscars of Fashion,” this honor required that awardees come to Dallas to receive the award, which promoted Dallas as a fashion capital, shared Texas culture with an international audience, and provided exposure to international culture for Neiman’s Texan audience. This course will offer historical context for the award with garments from the Texas Fashion Collection and archival materials from the Stanley Marcus Papers at the DeGolyer Library at Southern Methodist University.

Ms. Annette Becker is the director of the UNT Texas Fashion Collection, an archive of nearly 20,000 historic and designer garments and accessories spanning 250 years of fashion history. Ms. Becker holds an MA in Art History from UNT and has professional experience in museums around the country.

Navigating Public School with My Transgender Child

There are a million school supply lists and pro-tips for parents when your kids go back to school. But what’s on the to-do list when your child goes back to school with a new name and pronouns? When “being trans” is a politically charged issue, how can my son’s teachers protect him against bathroom bills and discrimination, without getting themselves fired? Let’s demystify what it means to “come out” for a trans student in a public school, and ways to create a more equitable learning environment.

Amber Briggle is a self-described “mama bear” of a transgender child, and an advocate for LGBTQ rights. She is the national co-chair of the Human Rights Campaign’s Parents for Transgender Equality, and is a board trustee for the League of Women Voters of Texas. She has authored and appeared in numerous national publications, and has spoken at various events, fundraisers, conferences, panels, and political rallies across the country. She was nominated as “Texan of the Year” by the Dallas Morning News in 2016 because of her family’s public advocacy, which included a dinner invitation with Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton and an invitation to the Obama White House.

Perspectives on the National Debt

Our national debt is a matter of keen interest today. It represents economic risk and constraint on government policy-making, but how much depends upon who owns it, our ability to service it now and in the future, its proportion in relation to the Gross National Product and the Federal budget, the future course of interest rates, various fiscal actions the congress may adopt, and the behavior of international military and trade competitors? This course will use straightforward graphs produced by the Federal Reserve and other Federal agencies to illuminate and assess these risk factors. We will try to form some judgments about the level of risk represented to ourselves and future generations.

The Least Dangerous Branch?
The U.S. Supreme Court in American Politics

In Federalist 78, Alexander Hamilton famously described the judiciary as "the least dangerous branch" because it has "neither FORCE nor WILL, but merely judgment; and must ultimately depend upon the aid of the executive arm for the efficacy of its judgments." Hamilton might be surprised to see that the contemporary American judiciary is a truly co-equal branch of the federal government. Join Dr. Bethany Blackstone for a discussion about the role of the judiciary in shaping American public policy. The impact of courts (generally) and the Supreme Court (specifically) varies over time and by issue area. Dr. Blackstone will discuss the historical changes that have allowed the courts to sometimes play a central role in shaping policy, highlight the conditions under which Supreme Court decisions have been more and less influential, and discuss recent developments related to the Supreme Court, including major decisions and the impact of recent membership changes on the Court.

Bethany Blackstone is an Associate Professor in the UNT Department of Political Science. She researches American politics, including judicial process and behavior, as well as political institutions. Her current projects focus on the impact of the Supreme Court on congressional decision-making and strategic behavior in the United States Courts of Appeals.

Understanding Financial Performance and Business Value

Sustained business profitability is important to investors, employees, retirees with company pensions or 401(k) plans, and the public, all of whom benefit when firms and the economy perform well. The factors that impact performance and how they are linked are easily accessible to anyone by means of a simple financial model used by most businesses. The goal of a business is to create value in a durable manner, so the important intersection between finance and business strategy will be made clear using examples based on several types of firms. The purpose of the course is to enable members to extract more understanding when they read business news, watch CEOs or analysts on TV, or peruse annual reports.

A Popular 19th Century Invention That Led to Today's 3D Movies

Stereoscopes came into widespread use in many households following Queen Victoria’s interest in a display of lenticular stereoscopes at the Great Exhibition in 1851. The principle of stereoscopic photography was applied to motion pictures during the 20th century, and it is currently used in the projection of digital 3D movies. This presentation will include information about the history of stereoscopes and the uses of stereoscopic media.

How Democracies Form and How They Fail

Democracy is today in retreat around the world, after decades of sustained growth. After defining democracy at the political - system level, Professor Booth will examine several historical waves of democracy formation and decline. The historical record helps identify factors and processes that favor the establishment of democracy in nation states, and others that contribute to its failure. Where is democracy at risk of failing today, and is the United States among nations whose democracy is in peril? If so, which factors appear to push us toward or hold us back from the brink of democratic failure.

John A. Booth is Regents Professor Emeritus of political science at the University of North Texas. His research and teaching at UNT have focused on Latin American politics and public opinion, democratization, and political violence and revolution. He has taught OLLI/Emeritus College courses regularly since 2014, and is a currently a member of the OLLI at UNT Advisory Council.

How the Irish Helped Abraham Lincoln Save the Union

Discover the important relationship between Lincoln and the Irish. In 1847, Lincoln, a newly elected U.S. House Representative, donated over $500 (current USD) to Ireland for Great Famine relief plus supported a House bill condemning the treatment of the Young Irishers, who instigated the 1848 Famine Rebellion. Many of President Lincoln’s staunchest advocates and best generals were Irish. During the Civil War, large numbers of courageous Irish soldiers helped swing the outcome.

Rudy Ray Seward is a descendant from one of three Lowery brothers who migrated to U.S. during Great Irish Famine. He first visited Ireland in 1971 and in 1998 was Research Fellow at National University of Ireland, Galway. In 2012, he was designated Professor Emeritus at UNT after 39 years on faculty.

Indian Culture: the Roots, the Value System, & the Philosophy

Indian culture is as diverse as a rainbow. It spreads its wings, spreads its fragrance in multiple ways, encompassing a variety of cuisines, festivals, language, attire, music, and dance, each with a flavor of its own. There are ceremonies for birth and death; likewise, an Indian wedding is a celebration of union, not only of the bride and groom but also of two families! Surprisingly, irrespective of its diversity, Indian culture is deeply rooted in a core philosophy which translates into a value system and then gets reflected into the way of life, the artifacts. This course will walk you through the three-way journey to understand and appreciate Indian culture.

Join Professor Crutsinger on a journey as King Louis XIV, the Sun King, and his wife Marie-Thérèse of Austria set up royal residence at Versailles. The stories of this famous palace and selected French chateaus built during the rise of the classical French Baroque period will be described, along with the tales of the characters that inhabited them. This visual treat will demonstrate how political, economic, and social systems shaped architecture, decorative arts, and fashion during the Sun King’s 72-year rule (1638-1718). During this time period, France dominated European culture and became the fashion icon for hundreds of years. Learn more about the red-heeled Bourbon monarchy and how French court enhanced the Baroque movement.

Rome’s Jewish Wars & Modern Israel: The Zionist Take on the Jewish Revolts against Rome

In the 1st & 2nd centuries AD, Judea launched two major rebellions against the Roman Empire. These revolts represented a major military challenge to Rome, but it suppressed them both with brutal efficiency. Rome’s Jewish Wars had a tremendous impact on Jewish history. From its inception in the 1880s, the Jewish national movement (Zionism) sought to reverse the effects of these ancient wars -- to return Jews from their global diaspora to their ancient homeland, revive Jewish statehood in the land of Israel, and revive the Jewish language (Hebrew). For this reason, Zionists used these Jewish rebellions from the classical era as a central element in their effort to convince & inspire Jews in the modern era to accept Zionism’s core values, beliefs, and objectives.

St. John’s Remembrance

St. John’s, located in Pilot Point, Texas, was part of a larger Black community of freedmen that moved from Alabama and Missouri in the 1870s and settled in Denton County. There, they experienced loss, violence, disease, economic fragility, and felt the changes that occurred at the turn of the century until the 1930s. Through their study of genealogy and tracing members of the community from their beginnings to their deaths, Ms. Bowles and Ms. Stewart are able to provide a case study in the rise of racial violence perpetuated by the Ku Klux Klan and local law enforcement against the Black community of Denton County.

Texas and the Road to the 1890s Populist Revolt

This course will explore the wrenching changes that challenged Texas farmers in the aftermath of the Civil War and Reconstruction. Cotton prices tumbled year after year during the late nineteenth century while the state legislature refused to help farmers who fell into debt and lost their farms and livelihoods. As a result, the anger that built among Texas farmers culminated in one of the largest political revolts in American history: the Populist Party of the 1890s. Focusing on how everyday men and women in Texas experienced the ugly underbelly of the “Gilded Age,” this course will trace the rise and collapse of one of the most important third-party challenges ever to emerge in American history.

The Industrial Revolution, The Wesley Family, & the Evangelical Revival

England at the beginning of the 18th century was undergoing a significant change. The Industrial Revolution created many jobs in coal mines and cloth factories. Multitudes of working people were moving from the manors to the cities in search of a better life. Drunkenness, gambling, and poverty were prevalent. Into this culture came the Evangelical Revival - a renewed interest in personal religion. A key leader was John Wesley, Oxford professor of the New Testament and Greek. He abandoned his teaching to travel for 50 years throughout England leading class meetings and literacy groups. Important in this effort were John's mother, Susanna, and his brother, Charles. According to Dr. Diane Severance, "some historians have maintained that the revival so altered the course of English history that it probably saved England from the kind of revolution that took place in France and in the American colonies."

PHILOSOPHY & RELIGION

Enough Buddhism to be Dangerous

This course will treat the basic teachings of Hinayana Buddhism (the first form) and indicate how some later types of Buddhism, particularly Zen Buddhism, modified or broadened the original perspective. Buddhism remains wonderfully practical so if you are troubled that it might conflict with your religious beliefs, don’t be, for you will discover that it will complement your perspective.

Russell Gregory graduated magna cum laude from Oklahoma Baptist University with a major in history. He continued his education as Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in preparation for the ministry. When he discerned that teaching was his real calling, he traveled to Nashville to complete a Ph.D in Religious studies with a concentration in Hebrew Bible (Old Testament). He eventually taught 25 years at Radford University in Virginia.

Stories from the Old Testament

The Old Testament, besides being a spiritual handbook, is a wonderful collection of stories which originated orally. Therefore, they are readily available to be told orally. In this course, Mr. Gregory will mix stories that he has told in past courses (a good story can’t be heard enough!) with those he hasn’t yet narrated. Come to re-view certain pivotal stories and to respond to additional examples.

World Religions: A Comparative Study

The purpose of this course is to assist members in achieving an informed appreciation for the religious life of humankind as this is reflected in some of the most influential religious traditions in the world. It is intended neither to convert you to any particular religion nor to persuade you to reject any or all religion. The topics covered will include Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism, Daoism, Confucianism, Shinto, Judaism, Christianity, and Islam.

Dr. Pankaj Jain is an Associate Professor in the Department of Philosophy & Religion at UNT. He recently published Science and Socio-Religious Revolution in India: Moving the Mountains (January 2017), and is also the author of Dharma and Ecology of Hindu Communities: Sustenance and Sustainability (May 2011), which won the 2012 DANAM Book Award and the 2011 Uberoi Book Award.

NATURE & GARDENING

Getting Nature Straight: Starting with the Big Thicket

Ecology covers a lot of ground: botany, economics, politics, religion, aesthetics and more. This course will attempt to put together such factors by using Dr. Gunter’s experience in creating and later enlarging the Big Thicket National Preserve in Southeast Texas and by using Philosophy as a way of seeing things as a whole. Philosophy is not always a waste of time.

Dr. Peter Gunter took degrees at the University of Texas and Cambridge University before completing a Ph.D in Philosophy at Yale University 1963. As founding chairman of the Philosophy department at UNT, he transformed the department into the first program of Philosophy and Environmental Ethics in the United States. He is an amateur Musician, Poet, and Environmentalist.

My Little Chickadee: The Coolest Little Bird Ya Ever Did See

Friction and Wear in Everyday Life

Friction and wear-related failures remain one of the greatest problems in today’s moving mechanical assemblies, from nanoscale microelectromechanical systems to macroscale automotive and aerospace applications. This course will focus on fundamental understanding of friction and wear mechanisms and ways for controlling them through different lubrication approaches.

Dr. Diana Berman is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Materials Science and Engineering at UNT. Her passion is to explore the mechanisms contributing to friction and wear, so called tribology of mechanical systems, form nanoscale gears to car engines and wind turbines. She actively promotes the tribology area in research and education to increase awareness about everyday life problems associated with friction and wear and to highlight needs for their fundamental understanding and controlling.

Eldercare for Parents, Partners, & Ourselves

As we age, our relationships continuously evolve with our parents, our kids, and our spouses. The ever-changing circumstances mean that the elderly increasingly need the awareness and eventually, the assistance of their potential caregivers. Originally oriented towards adult children caring for their aging parents, this course has also proven useful for the elderly, both in caring for their spouses as well as anticipation of their own aging. Based on short, real-life vignettes, the topics will connect with members, providing practical help and glimpses of unexpected joys. Topics to be covered will include: Determination of When and What Help is Needed, the Transition from Independent to Dependent Living, the New Normal of Dependent Living, and Dealing with Mortality.

Klaus Dannenberg is a Robson Ranch resident, retired aerospace engineering executive, and co-author of Honoring Aging Parents: How to Grow Up When Mom and Dad Grow Old. He and his wife spent twelve years taking care of her parents once they became unable to live independently and gradually lost their capabilities. Despite preconceived ideas of the burden and difficulties of caregiving, he and his wife found contentment and satisfaction while comforting their aging parents and now apply their lessons learned to themselves.

An Examination of the Effects of Color on Emotions Through the Ages

As a follow-up to last year’s course on the Psychology of Color and Design, this lecture will probe into the wide-ranging literature of research and theory about how color effects our behavior and emotions. These studies have been motivated by the hypothesis that long wave-length colors (e.g. red and yellow) are more emotionally stimulating than the short-length colors (e.g. blue and green). Then, using Red and Blue as our focus, we will follow two paths from ancient times to chart the role of these precious colors and dyes in religion, cultural traditions and military battles, even some that led to piracy on the high seas.

Ms. Peggy Higgins, MS, retired from teaching at UT Southwestern Medical Center as Asst. Professor of Health Care Science and as the Director of Education for the Alzheimer’s Disease Center. Ms. Higgins’ first career was interior design and focused on showroom design for national furniture manufacturers, and interiors for nursing home/assisted living facilities. The study of the psychology of color has been a long-standing interest throughout both career paths.

Orchestrating Attitude:
Getting the Best from Yourself and Others

The topic of attitude can be conceptual and confusing. In fact, as we go through life we often hear phrases like: “keep your chin up,” “look on the bright side,” or “you need a winning attitude.” Unfortunately, we seldom know how to convert these soft sayings into hard results. The great news is that even in the worst situations your attitude is something you can always control! This course will translate the incomprehensible into the actionable. It will cut through the clutter to deliver inspiration and application so you can get the best from yourself and others.

Reading the New Food Labels: Guidance for Consumers

Can you accurately read food labels and make healthy food choices? Do you know what the terms “natural,” “bioengineered,” and “organic” mean on food labels? This course will update members on the most recent food label regulations including the nutrition facts label, ingredient list, food allergens, and health claims. Being an informed consumer can help you identify misleading and confusing information and choose food products that are best for you.

Dr. Carolyn Bednar is a retired Professor Emeritus of Nutrition from Texas Woman’s University. She has long had an interest in food labeling and has previously taught short courses on this topic.

You’re Not Alone: Living as an Alzheimer’s Caregiver

You can succeed as an Alzheimer’s caregiver! Finding out a person close to you has been diagnosed with Alzheimer’s disease is one of life’s major challenges and being responsible for their care is equally challenging. While nobody welcomes such disconcerting news, you can succeed as a caregiver and help the person you love with proper care and preparation. This course will cover: effective communication strategies, how to deal with the stresses of caregiving, stages and behaviors of Alzheimer’s disease, and how to plan ahead for legal matters and care costs.

Leigh Hilton has helped over 6,000 families protect the assets that they leave to loved ones from divorce, creditors, lawsuits and predators. She has also helped over 350 implement the plans that she has prepared after the death of a loved one and helped over 1,200 families implement the plans prepared by other attorneys. She is the author of the book Who Gets Your Stuff When You Die and a frequent speaker. She has given over 400 speeches to various organizations and groups.

SPECIAL COLLECTION ACCESS

Modes and Masculinity:
Examples from the 18th Century in the Texas Fashion Collection

In this session, students in the undergraduate art history senior seminar at UNT will present their research on examples of eighteenth-century menswear in the Texas Fashion Collection. These pieces, part of a recent gift to the collection, have been studied, making these students’ contributions the first scholarly investigative efforts. The garments will be on display as part of the presentation.

SPECIAL INTEREST GROUPS

Meet like-minded OLLI at UNT members by joining one of our Special Interest Groups (SIGs). SIGs are independent groups of members who plan their own activities throughout the semester. Each group is led by a member(s) who serves as SIG Chair. To join a SIG, complete our Enrollment Form, sign up within the Member Portal, or send an email request to olli@unt.edu. By doing so, you agree to begin receiving emails related to the SIG.

Frisco Belles Lettres Book Club
SIG Chair: Judith Yarborough

Members of this book group read and share opinion and insight regarding literary classics of both older and more recent vintage. This club will meet on Wednesdays, October 9 and November 13 from 10:00am - 11:30am at the Frisco Senior Center. Judith will contact SIG members by September with titles for the fall book club meetings.

Great Books
SIG Chair: Donna Zelisko-McLaughlin

Readers know that life’s next adventure can begin in a book. And book group participants know that lifelong learning is about opportunities to explore, reflect, and connect. There is joy in reading a good book and sharing one’s perceptions with others. The members of this book club explore a category of literature called “great books.” This club meets on the fourth Friday of the month from 2:30-4:00 pm at the Denton South Branch Library.

Reese Witherspoon’s Book Club
SIG Chair: Rebecca Fridley

Members of this group will meet monthly to discuss books selected from Reese Witherspoon’s Hello Sunshine Book Club.

Reading List for the Year:
September 12 - Where the Crawdads Sing by Delia Owens
October 10 - Eleanor Oliphant is Completely Fine by Gail Honeyman
November 14 - The Alice Network by Kate Quinn
February 13 - You Think It, I’ll Say It by Curtis Sittenfeld
March 12 - Daisy Jones and the Six by Taylor Jenkins Reid
April 9 - From Scratch by Tembi Locke

Meetings are held in Denton on the second Thursday of each month from 2:00 – 3:30 pm.

Theatre Group
SIG Chair: Donna Zelisko-McLaughlin

The purpose of this group is to inform members of upcoming theatre productions in the DFW area, encourage members to attend live theatre events, participate in follow-up discussions, and recommend topics and speakers that enhance members’ knowledge of the art and history of the theatre.
Day Trippers
SIG Chair: Diana Mason

This group, which is composed of Curriculum Committee members, plans day trips in the area that are open to all OLLI at UNT members. Day Trippers outings are perfect for members interested in meeting others who are motivated to explore local treasures and take trips beyond those offered as part of OLLI at UNT’s official curriculum. These trips are on-your-own and logistics (transportation, entry fees, meals) are arranged independently by SIG members.

Trips being offered in the fall include:

WORD IS GETTING OUT

Since becoming endowed at the end of last year, the profile of OLLI at UNT has continued to grow. In addition to the press coverage listed above, our Ambassadors have done an excellent job representing the program at the Denton Arts & Jazz Festival, Denton 4th of July Parade, and our information sessions in Denton, Flower Mound, and Frisco. They have even volunteered to distribute our brochures to willing locations throughout the region.

These efforts have resulted in a steady stream of adults joining our community of lifelong learners. Bigger and better things are in store for OLLI at UNT, so be sure to keep your eyes peeled!
