Spring Catalog

For Adults Age 50+
A Message From The Director

OLLI at UNT’s spring semester is packed with exciting courses and lecture series, as well as amazing special educational and cultural activities. We have so much for you to choose from and I honestly can’t remember being so excited about the content of one of our semesters. There is something for everyone this spring.

This past fall, we saw that many of our members have ventured back into the classroom, while others are more comfortable learning from home. To accommodate all of our members, we have created a hybrid learning environment this spring. This means we will have in-person activities as well as virtual activities on Zoom. Members can now enjoy learning in whichever format they choose!

A couple of introductions are in order this spring. First, we are thrilled to welcome our newest team member, Leanne White. Leanne joined us in early October and now serves as the OLLI Coordinator. She brings so many great skills to our program and we are very excited to have her with us. We would also like to welcome the Keller Senior Activities Center as OLLI at UNT’s newest satellite location. Membership to the Keller Senior Activities Center is FREE, so all OLLI at UNT members can attend courses there without paying additional fees. We will start out the semester in Keller’s current building, but as soon as their beautiful new senior center is completed (right next door), our courses will be moved there.

OLLI at UNT members can meet and spend time with OLLI at Oklahoma State University members this semester as we gather for dinner at one of Denton’s most charming spots, Giuseppe’s Italian Restaurant. The following day, both groups will attend a special event, “Speed Dating with Historic Style,” where they will interact with UNT students conducting research in the Texas Fashion Collection and the esteemed faculty and staff who support them.

We are honored to present OLLI at UNT’s Lunch and Learn Lecture Series featuring the university’s Philosophy and Religion Department. They have some very impressive faculty who are excited to teach you this spring. Our OLLI After Five series this spring is absolutely stellar! Check out pages 24 and 25 to learn more about these one-of-a-kind lectures you get to listen to while enjoying complimentary wine and cheese.

We will also be re-engaging with the Persevere Until Success Happens (PUSH) program this spring. Students in the PUSH program are alumni of the foster care system. OLLI at UNT members will meet with PUSH students at the OLLI office for a potluck dinner filled with great conversation and fun activities. This is a meaningful opportunity for our members to engage with students on campus.

Don’t forget to sign up early for our chartered bus trip for the Horse Country Tour. This one will fill up quickly. We will pick you up at one of our locations, drive you to two different horse ranches where will get an up close and personal look at the equine industry. We will also enjoy an old-fashioned bandwagon lunch in between the two tours.

I could go on and on about this amazing semester! Enjoy browsing through the catalog and choosing which courses and special events you will choose to take part in. I look forward to seeing you in class.

Together for the love of learning,

We welcome proposals from active and retired faculty, as well as subject matter experts with a passion for education.
Dear OLLI Members,

Our program is continually evolving and improving to enhance your experience — we have added new locations, created a summer program, provided virtual opportunities for academic learning and offered great travel opportunities. Our progress is made possible by funding we receive from our Osher Foundation endowment, your member dues and extensive support from the University of North Texas.

As we expand our program and offer new opportunities, it's important that we find ways to operate without the level of support we currently receive from UNT. A fundamental objective of our organization is to become financially self-sufficient while keeping our dues low enough to maximize participation. Now is the time for our members to create a culture of philanthropy by financially supporting the future of OLLI at UNT.

Please consider making a gift in support of our mission to offer impactful lifelong learning opportunities. Your donation in any amount will be received with gratitude.

Sincerely,
OLLI at UNT Advisory Council Members

Virtual Courses & Events

All of the activities listed in this section will take place live on Zoom. Members can expect each session to be dynamic and interactive. Several of our virtual presenters will be joining us from outside of the state.

These virtual activities are included for all OLLI at UNT members at no additional cost. It is recommended but not required that members create a personal Zoom account and download the Zoom app onto their computer or mobile device.

Members will receive a confirmation email containing the Zoom link for each activity they enroll in. Our weekly reminder emails will also contain the Zoom links for any virtual activities taking place during the upcoming week. To join an activity, simply click the Zoom link 5 minutes before it is scheduled to begin.

Great Decisions Virtual Discussion Group

8 Thursdays in Feb. & March, 2:45pm - 4:15pm

Great Decisions is America’s largest discussion program on world affairs. Meet with other OLLI at UNT members on Zoom to watch informative videos created by the Foreign Policy Association and discuss the most critical global issues facing America today. Dr. Jim Goodnow will serve as moderator.

Jim Goodnow, DBA, recently retired as Adjunct Professor of International Studies at UNT. He is a Professor Emeritus of International Business at Bradley University, and a Fellow of the Academy of International Business. He received his BA from Albion College and MBA and DBA from Indiana University.

Topics to be discussed:
- February 3 - Changing Demographics
- February 10 - Outer Space
- February 17 - Climate Change
- February 24 - Russia and the U.S.
- March 3 - Myanmar and ASEAN
- March 10 - The Quad Alliance
- March 24 - Industrial Policy
- March 31 - Drug Policy in Latin America

Please Note: Dr. Goodnow recommends purchasing the Great Decisions Briefing Book as a resource for these discussions. You can purchase the book online at: https://www.fpa.org/great_decisions/?act=gd_materials.
Virtual Cooking Lab

Beef Fillet Dijonnaise with Potato Dauphnoise and Roasted Brussel Sprouts
Tuesday, March 22; 2:45pm - 4:15pm

Prepare with Chef Duryea as she gives step-by-step instructions for this dinner, which will serve two to four people. Dr. Wen will also discuss wines that pair well with this dish. A recipe and wine suggestion list will be provided to participants in advance.

Chef Jodi Duryea, MS, is a Principal Lecturer in Department of Hospitality & Tourism Management at UNT. She graduated from the Culinary Institute of America in New York. Her experiences range from Garde Manger, line cook, sous chef, Patisserie and Executive Chef in kitchens around the country. She holds a Master's certificate in Hospitality Management from UNT.

Han Wen, PhD, is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Hospitality & Tourism Management at UNT. She earned her PhD in Hospitality Administration from Kansas State University.

France: Liberté, Égalité, Fraternité...and Food
Friday, February 18; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

The culture of French cuisine has been shaped by geography, by historical events, and by foreign and internal forces and groups. France, and in particular Paris, has played an important worldwide role as a center of high culture since the 17th century. From the late 19th century, France has also played an important role in cinema, fashion, literature, technology, the social sciences, and cuisine. Take a luxurious trip through the culinary regions of France to rediscover all your French favorites and discover some new recipes too.

Chef Larry Canepa is a Certified Culinary Educator and Chef, author, researcher, food historian and lecturer on culinary topics. He is a subject matter expert in food and beverage operations with knowledge of current culinary trends.

Italy: Unified Country, Regional Tastes
Friday, February 25; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

Across the globe, there is no country with food and wine that is more romanticized and sought after than Italy. It’s a place where good food and delicious wine are available at every turn and taken seriously by the people who make it and those who consume it. Travel across all 20 regions of Italy to discover the unique food, wine and traditions of this culinary destination.

How Does the U.S. Rank in 2022?

A Top 10 Summary
Thursday, March 24; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

This session will present a compilation of credible survey rankings for global factors like life expectancy, crime rates, national prosperity, education levels, happiness, pollution and much more. All charts and links to data sources will be provided to members in advance. Members should come prepared to discuss their opinions about the rankings.

Doug Stowell has been a national OLLI instructor since 2018. He has worked as Director of Market Research for the Xerox Corporation, U.S. Director for the U.K. firm National Opinion Polling, Ltd., and Senior Consultant with Wirthlin Polling in DC. He opened his own firm in 2002 and continues today conducting global consumer issues surveys and lecturing on global issues.

Only Hope: My Mother and the Holocaust Brought to Light

A Survivor’s Stories of the Holocaust
Friday, March 25; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

Before she passed away in 1974, Felicia Bornstein Lubliner wrote about her internment in Polish ghettos and two Nazi concentration camps, Auschwitz and Gross-Rosen. Her powerful stories have recently been published by her son, Irv Lubliner. He will share excerpts from his book, shedding light on his mother’s experiences and indomitable spirit, as well as his experience as a child of Holocaust survivors and his process in bringing the book to fruition. This will be followed by a Q & A session.

Irv Lubliner teaches math, music, and literature classes for the OLLI program at Southern Oregon University, where he has also served on the Council of Directors. An emeritus professor specializing in mathematics education, he taught for 40 years and led seminars for math teachers in 39 states. In 2019, he created Felabra Press and published his mother’s writing about her experiences during the Holocaust, the book that will serve as the theme for this presentation.

“How through a personal, unique and diverse lens, Felicia Lubliner conveys the raw emotional experience of a young woman trapped in the unimaginable depths of despair, yet through whose written words we find hope. Felicia Lubliner’s Only Hope guides the reader through a Holocaust story that is much deeper than a number - 6,000,000 - giving us a human touch in the midst of inhumanity.”

This spring, Jean Greenlaw and Susan Supak will begin a special new series for OLLI at UNT members.

Each semester, they will host a discussion with a renowned author or a panel of authors united by a single theme. These conversations will explore the authors' books, delving into the inspirations for their characters, themes, and stories. The authors will discuss the craft of writing itself, as well as the trials and victories they experience seeing their work to completion.

So You Think This Is Fantasy?
Friday, April 1; 5:30pm - 6:30pm

This series will begin with multi-award-winning author Kathryn Lasky. Kathryn has written over 100 books, from historical fiction and informational books to the much-loved fantasy series Guardians of Ga’Hoole, which has sold over 4 million copies and was made into an animated film in 2010. All of Kathryn’s work, even that fantasy series, is grounded in rigorous research.

Kathryn estimates that for every hour of writing, she does one hour of research. By studying in the bio labs of Harvard and helicoptering over polar bears in Manitoba, she's able to faithfully create owls that forge iron into fierce battle talons and polar bears capable of computing mathematical equations concerning the dissolution of the polar ice cap. In this discussion, Kathryn will describe her process in detail.

Hosts

Jean Greenlaw, PhD, is an expert in children’s literature and leader of our Book Talk SIG. She has been a book reviewer for decades.

Susan Supak is a member of the OLLI at UNT Advisory Council and host of the OLLI at UNT podcast.

This marks the end of our virtual activities for the spring semester. Each activity on the following pages will take place in person.
Distant Worlds: Alien Life?

Wednesday, February 2
1:00pm - 2:30pm
UNT Sky Theater

Come watch a beautiful planetarium film exploring one of the most enduring questions of humankind. Are we alone? For millennia, our ancestors watched the stars, questioning the origin and nature of what they saw. Still today we ask these questions, knowing that the Universe is a vast place filled with billions and billions of stars and planets, yet Earth is the only planet we know for sure to be inhabited.

Meet us at the UNT Sky Theater (1704 W. Mulberry Street) or park at the OLLI at UNT Classroom and we'll walk together just 0.5 miles up the sidewalk.

PUSH Potluck Dinner

Thursday, February 17
6:00pm - 7:30pm
OLLI at UNT Classroom

The Persevere Until Success Happens (PUSH) program at UNT supports foster care alumni at the university, enabling them to arrive and thrive on campus. Bring a homemade dish and get to know some of these remarkable students at this informal dinner. We will be joined at this event by some of our friends in the UNT Retiree Association.

Information about additional ways to support students in the PUSH program is available at studentaffairs.unt.edu/push/giving.

Wine & Cheese Pairing Lesson

Thursday, March 10; 5:30pm - 6:30pm
OLLI at UNT Classroom

Join Justin and Ben from Denton's Ten:One Artisanal Cheese Shop for an educational wine and cheese pairing event. Enjoy a glass of wine and a selection of three cheeses. With expertise and passion, the mongers from Ten:One will teach us all about the wine and cheeses, while explaining why they complement each other so well.

The event fee includes 1 glass of wine, a selection of 3 cheeses (1 oz. each), bread from Ravelin Bakery, plus an assortment of house nuts, jams, and poached fruit.

Special Events & Local Trips

These activities are complimentary for members, except where a fee is listed in yellow.
Visiting Lecturer: Kevin Richardson

Thursday, March 31
OLLI at UNT Classroom

Kevin Richardson is currently employed at a senior level by UK Research & Innovation, the United Kingdom’s primary state funder of research, development, and innovation. He is also a Visiting Fellow at Newcastle University, which is a member of the Russell Group. Mr. Richardson studied Political Science at UNT in 1992.

10:00am - 11:30am
What Are Universities For?

This session will examine and question critically the concept of universities as we have known them. Emphasis will be placed on their role not just in terms of teaching and research, but also what else they should do for local people and the real world places where they are based. This session will draw on recent work of the Civic University Network and the role of Civic University Agreements in the United Kingdom.

1:00pm - 2:30pm
Research: Who and Where Is It For?

This session will question existing understandings of research inside universities as being too driven by science and technology, as well as the aspirations of those institutions and their academics. It will identify the role of local communities in helping to identify social and community needs using concepts such as social innovation and the foundational economy. The session will draw on recent work in England towards a national strategy for research and development.

2:45pm - 4:15pm
Americans and the English: Two Worlds Separated by a Common Language?

This session will question traditionally understood differences between American and English cultures. In what ways are we similar and how (and why) do we differ? Is such a comparison still possible and meaningful? This transatlantic talk will use interactive polling on Zoom to connect a group of policy experts and academics in England with OLLI members in our North Texas classroom.

Shiloh Field Community Garden Tour

Limit: 25 Members

Working to End Hunger in Denton County
Tuesday, April 12; 10:00am - 11:30am
1650 Nottingham Drive, Denton, TX 76209

The Shiloh Field Community Garden is the largest community garden in the county, growing over 50,000 pounds of produce a year. Come tour the garden and learn how they start their seeds, plant in raised beds, maintain the garden and harvest the produce that is donated to several agencies in Denton County. This will be a great learning experience for all levels.

Wear comfortable closed-toed shoes (they might get muddy), long pants, and a hat or sunshades. Bring gloves for hands-on demos, paper and pencil for notes, and a water bottle.

Tour Guide: Cindy Helm is a Denton County Master Gardener and serves on the board of Directors for Friends of Shiloh Garden-Shiloh Field.
Speed Dating with Historic Style

Friday, April 22
12:00pm - 1:30pm
UNT CVAD Art Galleries
1201 W. Mulberry Street
Denton, Texas 76201

Organized through the UNT College of Visual Arts and Design (CVAD), this program offers an afternoon of speed dating with student research in the exhibition “Delights: Selections from the Texas Fashion Collection.” Undergraduate students enrolled in Art History Professor Denise Baxter’s “Understanding Art Museums” course will share short presentations on their object-based research while OLLI members from both UNT and Oklahoma State University circulate through the CVAD Galleries. These informal talks will offer myriad approaches to museum studies and fashion history, all while highlighting the world-class holdings of the TFC. Annette Becker and Stefanie Dlugosz-Acton will also be on-hand to offer insight into their leadership in the exhibition's planning and execution.

Denise Baxter is the UNT CVAD Associate Dean of Academic and Student Affairs and Professor of Art History. Annette Becker is the director and curator of the UNT CVAD Texas Fashion Collection. Stefanie Dlugosz-Acton is director and curator of the UNT CVAD Galleries.

Parking: Members may purchase a day use permit from UNT Transportation Services, which will allow them to park in Lot 55 near the intersection of Welch Street and W. Mulberry Street. Hourly parking is also available in the Union Circle Garage using the Parkmobile app. Visit transportation.unt.edu for more details on how to park on campus as a guest, or call 940-565-3020 to speak to a representative.

Meet Visiting Members from OLLI at OSU

Pre-Event Dinner
Thursday, April 21 at 6:30pm
Giuseppe's Italian Restaurant
821 N. Locust Street
Denton, TX 76201

Limit: 35 Members

Get to know some of our friends from OLLI at OSU when they arrive in town the night before our CVAD event. The fee for this dinner includes a house salad with bread, an entree, and tiramisu for dessert. Alcoholic beverages must be purchased on your own at the restaurant.

Cancellation Deadline: Thursday, April 7
On this trip, we will wind our way through North Texas horse country on a chartered bus and visit two premier ranches to get a behind-the-scenes look at the equine industry. For lunch, we’ll enjoy an old-fashioned bandwagon feast at Oak Meadow Ranch, complete with an exotic wildlife meet and greet and a cowboy mounted shooting demonstration.

Cardinal Reining Horses is one of the largest reining ranches in North Texas Horse Country. The ranch features the largest private covered arena in the world, a first class show barn, 200+ stalls, and a state-of-the-art breeding operation. The ranch is home to the best performers and producers in the performance horse industry. During the behind-the-scenes tour, we will visit the arena where horses will be warming up for training, along with the breeding barn, stallion station, and mare and foal barns.

Fred Thomsson Reining Horses is a first class facility, boasting 62 stalls in two barns, a 125 by 275 foot indoor arena, carefully tended ground, and other amenities. The ranch is also home to the main veterinary clinic for North Texas Horse Country, the Trailmark Equine. This state-of-the-art facility includes a horse treadmill, along with cutting edge technology to diagnose and treat horses. During this behind-the-scenes tour, we will visit the veterinary clinic, tour the stallion and mare barns, meet champion horses, and witness a reining performance from the famous Fred Thomsson himself.

Oak Meadow Ranch resembles an Old West town filled with beautiful landscaping, exotic animals, indoor and outdoor dining areas, fire pits, picnic tables and genuine friendly hospitality. Our menu will include brisket, chicken, 2 sides, salad, bread, and dessert, all crafted by award-winning Chef Eduardo Navarro from the Whitehorse Steakhouse.

Bus #1 (55 Seats): Stops at Flower Mound Senior Center & Robson Ranch
Bus #2 (39 Seats): Stops at Keller Senior Activities Center & OLLI at UNT Scripture Street Office

Cancellation Deadline: Thursday, April 7
Documentary Filmmaking Stories Behind the Scenes: What Is and Isn’t Shown on the Screen

Monday, February 1

Have you ever wondered what it is really like to be behind the documentary film camera in a foreign culture or country? The documentary director isn’t just making a “movie,” but having to delicately and respectfully make quick judgments and decisions, all while interfacing with those who have graciously agreed to be filmed. Sometimes the things that happen when the camera is turned off are just as interesting as what ends up in the final film itself. See excerpts from several documentaries directed by UNT Professor Melinda Levin (including Mongolia and Cuba) and learn about some fascinating behind-the-scenes occurrences when a professional documentary film crew is invited into different cultural, legal, political, religious and societal landscapes.

Melinda Levin, MFA, MS, is a documentary filmmaker and a Professor in UNT’s Department of Media Arts. Working primarily in the documentary mode, Levin has produced, directed, edited and shot documentaries in the U.S. and abroad, including North America, Europe, the Middle East and Asia. Levin has served the U.S. Department of State as part of the U.S. Speakers Bureau, and traveled as a citizen artist ambassador to Autonomous Region of Northern Afghanistan, Tajikstan, Thailand, and Vietnam.

This dynamic series is complimentary for all OLLI at UNT members. Each session includes a selection of wines, beers, cheeses, and crackers at no charge.

Beyond Conviction
Documentary Screening with Filmmaker and Attorney Q&A
Thursday, February 10

Join us for a screening of a new documentary about the work being done to break cycles of domestic violence in our state, followed by a conversation with the filmmaker and his subject, a district attorney who is attempting to address this social problem at the local level.

Thorne Anderson, MA, is the Endowed Chair for Narrative and Multimedia Journalism at the Mayborn School of Journalism. He has worked internationally as a freelance photojournalist for publications including the New York Times, Los Angeles Times, Boston Globe, Chicago Tribune, Time, Newsweek, U.S. News & World Report, and Stern.

This event will be extended by 15 minutes to allow additional time for Q&A.
Using Computers to Uncover the Authorship of Letters Sent by the Zodiac Killer
Thursday, March 3

There was very exciting news in December of 2020 when a team of three cryptographers solved the Zodiac-340 cipher after 51 years. This has provided more writings from the Zodiac serial killer for analysis and comparison to writing from known suspects in the case. Despite Zodiac’s attempts to conceal his writing with misspellings, does his word choice frequency and punctuation use give him away?

Ryan Garlick, PhD, is a Principal Lecturer in the UNT Department of Computer Science and Engineering. He holds a PhD in Computer Science from Southern Methodist University. Dr. Garlick was a principle in the National Geographic Channel special The Code Breakers and the 5-part History Channel series The Hunt for the Zodiac Killer.

Emeralds and Rubies: The Theft of Tucker’s Cross and Dorothy’s Ruby Slippers
Tuesday, March 29

When Teddy Tucker, the Bermudian underwater treasure hunter, found an emerald-studded 22-carat gold cross in the ruins of the shipwreck of the San Pedro (1594), it was the most valuable item found in a shipwreck at that time (1955). Dr. Evans will dive into this tale, which involves pirates, Queen Elizabeth, and deceit. She will also discuss the theft of Dorothy’s ruby slippers from The Wizard of Oz and their journey back home (because there is no place like home).

Laura Evans, PhD, is an Associate Professor of Art History and Art Education and the Coordinator of the Art Museum Education Certificate at UNT. Her research interests are in the intersections between art museum education, interpretation, gender, and narrative. Evans has also interned or worked at galleries across the world.

The Music That Inspired Us and Will Hopefully Inspire You
Tuesday, April 19

Grammy Award-winning UNT Professor Brad Leali and his Grammy-nominated wife, vocalist Carla Helmbrecht, have inspired each other by sharing their greatest musical discoveries. In this live jazz concert, they will recapture these moments in the hope of inspiring others. Be prepared for an iconic journey through their musical memories.

Brad Leali, MM, is Professor of Jazz Saxophone in the UNT College of Music. He received his Bachelor’s degree in Music Education from UNT, where he played with the One O’Clock Lab Band, and earned his Master’s degree from Rutgers University. Leali has served as musical director of the Harry Connick Jr. Orchestra and won two Grammy Awards as a member of the Count Basie Orchestra. Leali has recorded five CDs and performed with legends such as Nancy Wilson, Freddie Hubbard, Clark Terry, Joe Williams, Jimmy Cobb, and Benny Golson. Most recently, he has performed as the featured saxophone solo chair with the Lyle Lovett Orchestra.

Carla Helmbrecht has been singing professionally since age 13. Her dual career in music and Speech Pathology has given her a unique understanding of the balance between vocal efficiency and expression in this fragile instrument – the voice. Her album Be Cool Be Kind (2001) debuted as “the most added jazz record on radio in the nation” and received three Grammy nominations. Helmbrecht tours internationally and has been a featured artist at special events like the KXJZ Sacramento Jazz Concert Series, the San Francisco International Film Festival, the San Jose Jazz Festival, the Katy/West Houston Jazz Festival and the Fillmore Jazz Fest.
In response to the problems arising from rapid global socio-environmental change, a new concept and practice of biocultural conservation is being recognized that proposes a solution applied at local scales: “ecotourism with a hand lens.” This lecture will cover ecotourism’s theoretical foundations as well as practices linked to sustainable and just tourism. A new platform for international collaboration between UNT and the University of Magallanes Cape Horn International Center in Puerto Williams, Chile is enabling the development of the theory and practice of novel forms of sustainable tourism and biocultural conservation.

Ricardo Rozzi, PhD, is a Professor at UNT and at the University of Magallanes in Chile. Based in these institutions, he is the director of the Sub-Antarctic Biocultural Conservation Program, which received a Strait of Magellan Award from the Chilean government in 2020 in recognition of its innovative “ecotourism with a hand lens” concept. Dr. Rozzi holds a PhD in Ecology from the University of Connecticut.

Leah Kalmanson, PhD, is an Associate Professor and the Bhagwan Adinath Professor of Jain Studies at UNT. She holds a PhD in philosophy from the University of Hawaii at Mānoa. She is author of Cross-Cultural Existentialism: On the Meaning of Life in Asian and Western Thought (2020) and co-author with Monika Kirloskar-Steinbach of A Practical Guide to World Philosophies: Selves, Worlds, and Ways of Knowing (2021).

The UNT Department of Philosophy and Religion is the home of the nation’s leading Doctoral Program in environmental ethics/philosophy and the nation’s first Master’s Program in the field. Faculty in the department affiliate with university-wide environmental initiatives, such as the President’s Sustainability Council and the Research Cluster for Human Health and Environmental Sustainability. Faculty also have affiliated members in interdisciplinary programs such as Women’s Studies, Jewish Studies, and the Teach North Texas Science and Math Education Certification Program, as well as affiliation in university-wide research projects.

The department is the long-time home of Environmental Ethics, the first journal in its field, as well as the Center for Environmental Philosophy. With connections to the United Nations Environmental, Science, and Cultural Organization, the department’s Water Project is a leading university program connecting the arts with science, and also offers the possibility for Research Fellowships. With an endowment from the Jain Education and Research Foundation, UNT established the second Professorship in Jain Studies in the country in 2017.
From the Zapatistas in Chiapas to the Water Protectors at Standing Rock: A Decolonial Perspective
Wednesday, February 28
OLLI at UNT Classroom

In this lecture, Professor Gualdrón Ramírez will engage with two contemporary Indigenous movements in Central and North America to show how their political mobilizations criticize and resist the colonial construction of the Western world. Different from many of the ancient and modern Western approaches to political philosophy, focused on an abstract reflection on the kind of society we could or should construct, he will suggest a more fruitful analysis by studying the history of how our political present came to be what it is. In our particular time and place, this history is marked by the colonial construction of an epistemic and political system that can be theorized as one of “coloniality.” He will define this system of coloniality and then show the ways in which these two Indigenous movements constitute forceful responses to this system both in terms of resisting and of constructing new worlds.

Miguel Gualdrón Ramírez, PhD, is an Assistant Professor at UNT. He holds a BA and MA in philosophy from the Universidad Nacional de Colombia and a PhD from DePaul University. He is currently working on a manuscript entitled Decolonial Aesthetics: Theory and Praxis from the Americas.

What Does Ethics Taste Like?
Wednesday, March 2
OLLI at UNT Classroom

What does the taste of food and ethics have to do with each other? Taste is entirely personal, subjective, and idiosyncratic, whereas ethics is universal, objective, and reasoned. One has nothing to do with the other – at least that’s the conventional view. But what if ethics and taste are not separate but related? What if the taste of something influences our ethical judgments, and our ethical judgments influence how something tastes?

David M. Kaplan, PhD, is Professor and Chair in the Department of Philosophy and Religion at UNT. He is the author of Food Philosophy and editor of The Philosophy of Food and the Encyclopedia of Food and Agricultural Ethics. He has published articles on food technologies, genetically-modified food, artificial ingredients, and junk food. He also manages the Philosophy of Food Project, which aims to galvanize a community of philosophers working on food issues and help raise the level of public discourse about food, agriculture, animals, and eating.

Learning to Fear Climate Change
Wednesday, April 27
OLLI at UNT Classroom

Despite knowing about the risks of climate change for decades, global society has failed to reduce emissions of greenhouse gasses. There are many reasons for this. This lecture will explore the reason put forth by the philosopher Hans Jonas: we have failed to act because we are not sufficiently afraid. Jonas recommends cultivating a new kind of fear, one that is learned rather than experienced automatically. He argues that only through the powerful motivator of fear can we muster the will to act before catastrophe strikes. Should scientists be doing more to scare us? Or is fear unnecessary and even counterproductive? This is at the heart of contemporary debates about climate science, communication, and politics.

Adam Briggle, PhD, is an Associate Professor and Director of Graduate Studies in the Department of Philosophy and Religion at UNT. He holds a PhD from the University of Colorado at Boulder. He is a member of the Editorial Board for the journal Philosophy & Technology and has published books on bioethics, fracking, and climate change.
Special Interest Groups

OLLI at UNT Special Interest Groups (SIGs) are organized by members to provide opportunities to meet new people and discuss topics of shared interest. Even if you have previously been a member of these SIGs, please enroll this spring to indicate that you intend to continue participating.

Recipes: Show, Tell, & Share
One Monday per month at 2:45pm
OLLI at UNT Classroom

Join Kim Kinnear as we come together over food. Bring a dish to share and talk about based on the theme. Be ready with any tips or tricks you used.

- February 14: Italian for Love
- March 21: Quick and Easy (30 minutes or less)
- April 18: Hometown Favorites

Great Books
4th Friday of the month at 2:45pm

Two Tuesdays per month at 10:00am
OLLI at UNT Classroom

Join Sheila Holincheck for guided yoga sessions. All experience levels are welcome.

- February 1 & 15, March 1 & 22, April 5 & 19

Book Talk with Dr. Jean Greenlaw
2nd Wednesday of the month at 2:45pm
OLLI at UNT Classroom

This will be a discussion group led by Jean Greenlaw. The topic for each meeting will be the theme of Dr. Greenlaw’s “Book Talk” column that appears in the Denton Record-Chronicle on the first weekend of each month. It is not necessary to read the books mentioned in the column, but it will make your participation more meaningful for you if you do read a book that fits the theme. It can range from a picture book for children to the most complex book you find on the topic. Dr. Greenlaw will begin each session by discussing the topic and a few books from her column. A link to the column will be sent to the SIG roster before the meeting. Then members will participate by discussing the book they read. There are three points Dr. Greenlaw would like participants to be ready to discuss with the group:

1. How does the book you read fit the theme?
2. What was your most important takeaway from the book?
3. Why would others be interested in reading the book?

Themes:

- February 9: Bestsellers of 2021 and Black History Month
- March 9: Women’s History Month
- April 13: Plants, trees, gardening, or anything tied to the Denton Redbud Festival

If you wish to be a member of the SIG and not participate in the discussion, you are welcome. It just is more fun for you if you put your 2 cents worth in the discussion!

OLLI Year-Round
Save the Date for May 18

Can’t get enough OLLI? Stay connected with your fellow members between semesters as we come together for a day of fun activities and social interaction. Activities might include art activities, games, movies, and of course food! Stay tuned for more details in your email about what Advisory Council member Cheryl Storm has planned in-between our spring and summer semesters.
We've conducted over 75 faculty and alumni interviews since 2019. Here are a few episodes you may have missed.

Episode 6: The World's Longest History Lesson with Dr. Andrew Torget

In this episode, Susan had a wide-ranging discussion with Andrew Torget, Associate Professor in UNT's History Department. She and Dr. Torget discussed why it's important for us to learn about history, how he made history by teaching the world's longest history lesson, and his connection to the discovery of a safe full of documents that reveal the presumed-lost history of the Galveston City Company.

Episode 14: Memories of Nazi-occupied Czechoslovakia with Dr. Milan Reban

In this very special episode, Susan sat down for an extended conversation with the late Milan Reban. This episode was recorded on March 15, 2019, exactly 80 years to the day since Nazi troops descended on Dr. Reban's hometown. Dr. Reban shared vivid memories of his childhood in Nazi-occupied Czechoslovakia during World War II, as well as the aftermath of the war and its impact on his own life and that of his family.

Episode 26: Near-Death Experiences with Dr. Jan Holden

In this episode, Susan interviewed Dr. Jan Holden, who had recently retired from a 31-year career as part of the UNT Counseling Program. Dr. Holden spoke with Susan about how she came to conduct extensive research into the counseling implications of near-death experiences. Dr. Holden shared examples of astonishing transpersonal experiences from her research and discusses the profound life changes reported by those who have had these experiences.

Episode 48: Documenting Iraq's Missing Modern Art with Dr. Nada Shabout

In this episode, Susan spoke with Dr. Nada Shabout, Professor of Art History in UNT's College of Visual Arts & Design. After explaining how 20th century Arab artists started to express themselves in new ways as the colonial era gave way to postcolonialism, Dr. Shabout described her efforts to document the works that went missing from Iraq's Museum of Modern Art after the fall of Baghdad in 2003.

Episode 51: The Search for Black Holes and Quasars with Dr. Ohad Shemmer

In this episode, Susan discussed some of the latest developments in astrophysics with Dr. Ohad Shemmer, Associate Professor in UNT's Physics Department. In 2019, Dr. Shemmer and his colleagues reported their discovery of the oldest black hole known to astronomers. He explained to Susan how recent discoveries in astronomy allow scientists to better understand the history of our universe.

Episode 60: Women Musicians in the Age of Beethoven with Dr. Rebecca Geoffroy-Schwinden

In this episode, Susan spoke with Dr. Rebecca Geoffroy-Schwinden, Assistant Professor of Music History in the UNT College of Music. She took Susan on a journey to Europe from the 1770s to 1820s to explore the musical worlds of women and girls. She discussed the socio-economic possibilities that music provided to women and also reflected on how current attitudes about this time period shape the way its female musicians are viewed today.

All of our previous interviews are available online. We'll be releasing new episodes this spring.

FACULTY & ALUMNI INTERVIEWS HOSTED BY OLLI MEMBER SUSAN SUPAK

Spring 2022 29
A Look at Existentialism
UNT Mon. March 7; 10:00am - 11:30am

In this session, an English professor will discuss some aspects of existentialism as they are laid out in the literary works of some of the 20th century existential writers. Principally, he will examine the plays "No Exit" by Jean-Paul Sartre and "Six Characters in Search of an Author" by Luigi Pirandello, as well as the short stories "San Manuel Bueno, Mártir" by Miguel de Unamuno and "The Guest" by Albert Camus. These authors examine the basic questions: "Who am I?" or "What am I?" In this session, members will evaluate various methods of deriving answers to these questions.

Don Vann, PhD, is a Professor Emeritus in the Department of English at UNT and a retired Regent's Professor. He has been an author or editor of eight books, as well as scores of articles and reviews.

Appreciation of Symphonic Music
UNT Fri. April 8; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

In this session, Ron Fink and Amy Bishop will present their favorite classical music and composers with short excerpts of music. This session will be an excellent introduction for persons wanting to build a library of this music and learn little-known facts about the music and composers.

Ron Fink has several degrees from the University of Illinois and is a Professor Emeritus in the UNT College of Music. He was the first full-time University percussion teacher in Texas.

Amy Bishop is an award-winning journalist and the midday host at Classical WRR 101.1FM. She is also the station’s Director of Marketing and Promotions. Amy started her career in radio as a student DJ for KNTU.

Everything You Didn't Know About Drumming
UNT Mon. Feb. 7; 10:00am - 11:30am

In this session, Quincy Davis will discuss in detail the role of the drummer by breaking down all of the different components of a drum set, talking about rhythm and groove, talking about the various functions of a drummer in a band, and having members participate in various “groovy” activities.

Quincy Davis is Associate Professor of Jazz Percussion and chair of the drumset department in the UNT College of Music. He is a graduate of Western Michigan University and has performed and toured with many world-renowned musicians.

Cancellation Deadlines:
Pay Per Course members who cancel their attendance at least 24 hours in advance of a course's start date can request to apply their course fee to another spring course.
Music at the Movies:
How 19th Century Orchestral Style was Alive
and Well in Film Music of the 20th Century

KEL Tues. Feb. 8 & 15; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

In this course, Dr. Morley will present an audio-visual lecture of orchestral soundtracks (also known as “incidental music”) in the movies from 1927 to the present. It will feature brief discussions of 30 composers and 90 excerpts from 72 films. Members can expect to hear familiar high quality orchestral music and be quizzed to see if they can name a movie’s title by viewing screenshots of its stars while listening to the soundtrack. Movie buffs will be challenged.

Max Morley, DMA, taught music history and literature at Stephen F. Austin State University until his retirement. He earned his BM, MM, and DMA degrees from UNT. He is currently a member of the OLLI at UNT Advisory Council.

Peoples, Cultures, and Color

RR Thurs. April 14; 10:00am - 11:30am

In this session, members will see how culture and custom have a strong influence on the use of color in societies. For example, peoples in Far East Japan consider yellow a sacred color while in Western Japan, yellow denotes treachery. Favored colors express common values and mores of a people, sometimes with the influence of the materials at hand to create color. Historical and contemporary examples will be used to explain why and how a color becomes associated with a people.

Peggy Higgins, MS, is a retired Health Educator and Assistant Professor from UT Southwestern Medical Center. She also has a professional background in interior designs.

Percy Grainger: Perky Personality
Produces Great Wind Band Music

RR Tues. & Thurs. March 1, 3, 8, & 10; 1:00pm - 2:30pm
UNT Mon. April 4, 11, 18, & 25; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

Percy Aldridge Grainger was a piano virtuoso who performed and wrote for many wind, vocal and orchestral ensembles. His music has become a mainstay for the wind band because of its variety of sounds. This four-session course will trace Grainger’s life and delve into some of his most famous compositions.

Darhyl Ramsey, PhD, is a retired Professor of Music from the College of Music at UNT, where his area of expertise was instrumental literature and band history.

Piano Man by Dick Hyman

RR Tues. March 1; 2:45pm - 4:15pm
GS Fri. March 4; 10:00am - 11:30am
UNT Mon. March 7; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

Piano Man is a ballet for piano solo that represents the history of jazz piano in a 30-minute piece. The music is composed by Dick Hyman, in the styles of historical pianists from Scott Joplin to Bill Evans. Steve Harlos will talk about the work and perform it along with a video slide show.

Steve Harlos, DMA, serves as staff keyboardist for the Dallas Symphony Orchestra and as Chair of Keyboard Studies in the UNT College of Music. He has performed with such diverse artists as Timofei Dokschutzer, Harvey Phillips, Dick Hyman, Marvin Gaye and Maureen McGovern. His recent CD, The Piano Music of Dick Hyman, was released on Arbors Records.

Preservation: From the UNT Archives
to Your Family History

UNT Wed. April 27; 10:00am - 11:30am

In this session, members will gain insight into what preservation work is being done at UNT’s Libraries Special Collections Preservation Lab. Members will find out what it takes to preserve rare and unique materials so that they may be made accessible for use, research, exhibition, and long-term storage. Finally, members will be shown some preservation solutions and ideas to preserve their own family history.

Jodi Rhinehart-Doty, MS, is the Program Project Coordinator for UNT Libraries Special Collections. She earned her BA and MS in Psychology from Florida State University.

Justin Lemons, MIS, is the Lead Preservation Technician for UNT Libraries Special Collections. He earned a BFA in Drawing and Painting and an MIS in Library Science, both from the UNT.

South Asian Literature:
Perspectives and Central Themes

UNT Mon. March 21 & 28; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

The rich tradition of South Asian literature, consisting of Indian writing in English and also the extensive repertoire of literary works of other South Asian countries form a huge, significant part of South Asian cultural studies, which is a complex, intriguing, ever-evolving field. This short course will illustrate a few literary gems from this arena and delve into the central themes, perspectives, and areas of exploration in these texts.

Scriptures for a Generation:
What We Were Reading in the Sixties

UNT Wed. Feb. 16; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

This session will be based in part on English professor Philip D. Beidler’s 1994 book Scriptures for a Generation. According to Beidler, many of the Boomer generation grew up in “the last great reading culture...[and these books constitute] the apotheosis of the word.” After a quick romp through the collection and a broader look at the ’60s, members will focus on specific writers and cultural figures, including Jack Kerouac, Hugh Hefner, Betty Friedan, Eldridge Cleaver, and Timothy Leary.

Don Hancock, PhD, retired after 35 years as an administrator and teacher in college and non-profit adult education programs. He received both his PhD in Adult and Continuing Education and his BA in Journalism from UNT. In the ’80s and ’90s, he collected vintage copies of these scriptures from used bookstores, some of which he will bring to class for show and tell.

Splendors of Imperial China: Treasures from the National Palace Museum

RR Thurs. April 7; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

This course will present a unique opportunity to learn about selected works of art from the National Palace Museum’s repository of more than 600,000 items, made up of largely the personal collection of Chi’en-lung emperor 1736-95. The artworks epitomize China’s traditional view of its own past.

Francesca d’Atria - Romano, MFA, MA, received her MFA from Kean College and her MA in Arts & Supervision from Newark State College. She is an artist and art instructor who has worked as a docent at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The Greatest Poem Ever Written

UNT Mon. Feb. 14; 10:00am - 11:30am

During more than sixty years of study, Dr. Vann has poured over thousands of pieces of literature. He has selected one piece that gives an insight to the most important element of the human being; in fact, it gives a definition of what it means to be human. It draws on the experience of an ancient hero and the realization about life that he has achieved. It deals in mythology, not the fairy tale sort, but myths that have survived millennia because they present eternal truths, truths that define life, that define us.

The Music of Haydn, Brahms, Debussy, and Ravel and the Paintings of the Academics and Impressionists

UNT Mon. Feb. 7 & Wed. Feb. 9; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

The music of Joseph Haydn and Johannes Brahms in the early and middle 19th century preceded the music of Claude Debussy and Maurice Ravel at the turn of the 20th century. The paintings of Academic Classicism in the early to middle 19th century preceded the paintings of Impressionism at the turn of the 20th century. In this course, members will hear music by Haydn, Brahms, Debussy, and Ravel coupled with more than 120 paintings in two slide shows. Dr. Morley will focus on how the stylistic changes in these periods of time were caused by the musical and visual artist’s reaction to the political, economic, religious, and philosophical forces that shaped their lives and their works of art.

Max Morley, DMA (see bio on page 31)

Unaccustomed Earth: Short Stories by Jhumpa Lahiri

UNT Mon. April 18 & 25; 10:00am - 11:30am

Unaccustomed Earth is a collection of short stories from American author Jhumpa Lahiri. It is her second collection of stories, following Interpreter of Maladies. As with much of Lahiri’s work, Unaccustomed Earth considers the lives of Indian Americans and how they deal with their mixed cultural environment in America.

CURRENT EVENTS & SOCIAL ISSUES

Are the United States and China Headed Toward a New Cold War?

FR Fri. April 15 & 22; 10:00am - 11:30am

This course will explore the developing dangers of the U.S.-China relationship and its potential for the emergence of a new Cold War. Professor Greig will examine potential flashpoints over Taiwan and in the South China Sea. He will explore the way in which the U.S. has begun responding to the strategic challenge presented by China and examine both the dangers and opportunities this response offers.

Michael Greig, PhD, is a Professor of Political Science at UNT with a primary expertise in international relations. His work explores the forces that cause the outbreak of conflict and the tools that are most effective in transitioning war to a stable peace.

Esports in the Education System

KEL Tues. April 5; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

LAN Fri. April 15; 10:00am - 11:30am

FR Fri. April 22; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

GS Fri. April 29; 10:00am - 11:30am

From middle school to college, competitive video game competitions (also referred to as esports) are emerging in our education system. In the U.S. and abroad, educators, coaches, and students themselves are bringing gaming to school and it’s probably here to stay.

Dylan Wray, MS, is the Assistant Director of Esports at UNT, supporting several competitive teams and providing students with practical knowledge about the Esports industry. Wray received his BA in Media Communications at Colorado State University and then his MS in Audio Engineering for Video Games at the University of Colorado Denver.

Keys to Understanding Texas Government

UNT Mon. Feb. 14; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

RR Tues. Feb. 15; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

In this session, members will get an update on how and why Texas has organized its government. Answers lie in how the state’s history shaped its ancient (146 years) and lengthy (92,000 words) constitution. Compared to the U.S. government, Texas operates with a part-time legislature, a weak executive branch and bureaucracy, and a divided judicial system. Texas’ county and city governments shoulder much of the burden of executing state public policy. Texas also shares power and responsibilities with a national government that our officials often resist.

John A. Booth, PhD, is Regents Professor Emeritus of Political Science at UNT. His research and teaching have focused on Latin American politics and public opinion, democratization, and political violence and revolution.

Public Opinion in Contemporary American Politics

RR Tues. Feb. 22; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

How can a survey of 1,000 people tell what the whole U.S. thinks? When should we trust and when should we distrust polls? The session will address these and other questions while exploring the role of public opinion polling in elections and the relationship of public opinion to policy. Members will learn about the history of polling and how technology has changed it, how polling is used (and sometimes misused) in campaigns, and what polls tell us about politics today.

Patricia Richard, PhD, is Trustee Professor Emeritus of Political Science at Ohio University. In her scholarly work, Dr. Richard has written extensively about democracy, elections and campaigns, public opinion, and women’s rights. She recently published Latin American Political Culture: Public Opinion and Democracy with John A. Booth.

In the Spring of 2017, UNT President Neal Smatresk started a Presidential Initiative to develop a competitive Esports program for the university to be represented in intercollegiate competitions. The program was officially founded in April 2018 and now recruits students to represent the university on one of its three varsity teams.

Suicide in Later Life

This course will provide an overview of suicide in later life. This important issue will be discussed in terms of why older adults attempt and/or are successful in taking their own lives and how signs that this tragedy may occur can be recognized by family and professionals. Efforts at prevention and treatment will be discussed, as well as the unique circumstances confronting survivors and applying to veterans.

Bert Hayslip, Jr., PhD, is Regents Professor Emeritus in the UNT Department of Psychology. He received his doctorate in Experimental/Developmental Psychology from the University of Akron.

The Electoral College: Escape from Censure

In 1788, Alexander Hamilton made the following statement about the original Electoral College provision of the then-proposed new U.S. Constitution: “I venture that if the manner of it be not perfect, it is at least excellent.” Fifteen years later, the provision of which Hamilton was so proud had to be completely re-written. In 2021, it almost resulted in the most serious constitutional crisis in the nation’s history. In this course, members will explore how the Constitutional crisis in the nation’s history. In this course, members will explore how the Electoral College came to be and why January 6, 2021 could have resulted – from a constitutional standpoint – in a much bigger surprise than any of us imagined.

Jim Bays, JD, is a graduate of Dartmouth College and the University of Virginia Law School. He has taught courses on Thomas Jefferson and the transition from the Articles of Confederation to the U.S. Constitution.

FINANCE & BUSINESS

Preparing and Filing 2021 U.S. Personal Income Taxes

This course is intended to help singles or couples file or prepare to file their 2021 income taxes. All new items in the tax law for 2021 will be discussed. There will be a focus on the newly single for those who find themselves in a new tax status. Free filing opportunities will be identified to avoid costly preparation fees.

Gary Koenig, MBA (see bio above)

What Does the Federal Reserve System Do?

The 1913 legislative charge to the Federal Reserve is to use monetary policy to promote maximum employment, maintain stable prices, and support moderate long-term interest rates. What tools does the Fed use to try to achieve these objectives and how well do they work? In this session, explanations of quantitative easing, tapering, and taper tantrums will be provided in layman’s terms.

David Higgins, PhD, earned his doctorate in financial management and investments from The University of Texas at Austin. His specialty areas are the keys to financial performance, the creation and maintenance of business value, treasury management, business economics, and investments.

HISTORY

A Popular 19th Century Invention That Led to Today’s 3D Movies

Stereoscopes came into widespread use in many households following Queen Victoria’s interest in a display of lenticular stereoscopes at the Great Exhibition in 1851. The principle of stereoscopic photography was applied to motion pictures during the 20th century, and it is currently used in the projection of digital 3D movies. This presentation will include information about the history of stereoscopes and the uses of stereoscopic media.

John F. Neal, PhD, taught journalism and mass communication at the college level for more than 30 years. He received his PhD from UNT and while in graduate school at The University of Texas at Austin, he worked in the photography collection of the Harry Ransom Center.

Covering the Kennedy Assassination and Five Presidents

In 1963, Keith Shelton was the political writer for the Dallas Times Herald. He was in the motorcade when President Kennedy was shot. He had been covering the President in San Antonio, Houston, and Fort Worth. He reported on what happened at the Trade Mart and later at the Jack Ruby trial. He also covered at least once Presidents Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson, and Nixon.

Keith Shelton worked on newspapers for 23 years and was also on the journalism faculty at UNT for 23 years. He worked on newspapers in Lawton, Oklahoma and Wichita Falls, Texas, as well as the Denton Record-Chronicle, of which he was managing editor.

Scheduling Note:

If a course has multiple sessions listed at a single location, it will continue from one session to the next.

If a course has multiple locations listed, that indicates the entire course is being repeated at each location.
This session will examine the rise of the 19th century cattle industry in Texas from its earliest roots to its heyday during the 1870s-1880s and eventual demise by the 1890s. Covering the wars with Indians along the Plains and the lives of everyday cowboys and cattle barons, the lecture will provide a ground-level view of one of the most iconic moments in Texas history.

Andrew J. Torget, PhD, is a historian of 19th century North America at UNT. His most recent book, Seeds of Empire, won twelve major book prizes and was hailed by Texas Monthly as "the most nuanced and authoritative rewriting of the Texas origin myth to date."

Don't Throw That Away! Ephemera in the Archives and How to Preserve Your Own Ephemera Collections

RR Wed. March 2; 10:00am - 11:30am

In this session, UNT Libraries Special Collections staff will present the newly accessioned James Flowers Collection of Ephemera Found in Returned Library Books and share their process behind arranging and describing the collection's unique contents spanning over a century. They will discuss what meaning ephemera can hold when viewed through a historical lens, what types of ephemera one might collect, and how members can preserve their own trove of keepsake ephemera to treasure for years to come.

Ticket stubs, receipts, fliers, notes, and doodles are a few examples of ephemera, which are made for short-term use and typically not meant to last.

Rachael Zipperer is the University Archivist for UNT, where she collects, preserves, and makes available materials related to university history and culture. As an archivist, Rachael seeks to engage community members as users of and contributors to the archive.

Meagan May is the Public Services Librarian for UNT Libraries Special Collections, where she manages the Judge Sarah T. Hughes Reading Room. Her research interests include exploring new ways to incorporate aspects of popular culture into special collections instruction and outreach.

Caroline Moore is a part-time Assistant Archivist at UNT Libraries Special Collections and a full-time graduate student at UNT studying Library Science with a concentration in Archival Studies and Imaging Technology.

From Clovis to Columbus

RR Tues. March 22, 29, & April 5; 10:00am - 11:30am

This three-session course will trace the history of Mesoamerica, beginning with an explanation of how and why people first came to the New World and a discussion of the Olmec culture, which marked the high point of the New World Neolithic. The course will proceed through the 1,000-year dominance of Maya culture in session two and end with the Toltec and Aztec empires in session three. The rise and fall of these New World civilizations provoke us to ask why they forged patterns of development independent and ignorant of those in Mesopotamia, Egypt, India, and China.

Reid Ferring, PhD, is a Professor Emeritus in the Department of Geography and the Environment at UNT. He holds a PhD in Archaeology from Southern Methodist University and a PhD in Geology from the University of Texas at Dallas.

In 2019, Reid Ferring was part of an international team of scientists who developed a breakthrough method of identifying the sex and species of animals in fossils more than a million years old.

History of American Political Parties

RR Thurs. Feb. 17; 10:00am - 11:30am

This session will trace the origins of our two party system, and how it evolved. It will also examine third parties and why they have failed and will likely continue to fail. The session will begin with the Glorious Revolution of 1688 and end with the election of Bill Clinton in 1992, so no current political animosity and divisions will be covered, only historical facts.

James Robinson is a retired teacher of American and Afro-American History. His Master’s Degree involved Civil War origins. Mr. Robinson currently volunteers for the Denton County Office of History and Culture, specifically in the Traveling Museum project, which brings museum artifacts and presentations to school children all over the county.

Life of a Civil War Soldier

FM Wed. Feb. 9; 2:30pm - 4:00pm

KEL Tues. April 12; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

Bruce Ralston, a Civil War reenactor, complete with uniform, will give a lively presentation on the realities being in the Union army during the war. He will share history ranging from camp life, a description of his weapons and uniform. He will also discuss the contributions of women and African Americans and much more.

Bruce Ralston is a Civil War living history actor. He taught U.S. History in California schools for 45 years.

Reconstruction in the Red River Valley

UNT Fri. April 1, 8, & 15; 2:45pm - 4:15pm

FM Mon. April 11, 18, & 25; 2:30pm - 4:00pm

Due to its location as a historic border region, the Red River Valley of the American Southwest experienced some of the most incredibly violent interactions during Reconstruction (1865-1876), the period after the Civil War (1861-1865) that was supposed to bolster societal change and improvement. This course will explore the region’s political, social, and economic history in this era using maps, images, and newspaper sources.

Robin Cole-Jett, a graduate of East Texas State University, UNT, and TWU, has worked as the Educator at the Eisenhower Birthplace State Historic Site in Denison, Texas. For the past two decades, she’s also known as the Red River Historian, chronicler of the history of “where the South meets the West.”

Slavery and the Founders

KEL Tues. Feb. 1; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

RR Tues. Feb. 8; 2:45pm - 4:15pm

FR Fri. March 11; 10:00am - 11:30am

LAN Fri. April 1; 10:00am - 11:30am

This session will first consist of a brief overview of what U.S. historians have said about slavery from U.B. Phillips’ American Negro Slavery (1917) to the New York Times’ 1619 Project and a number of historians’ responses to that document. The session will continue with a discussion of the role of slavery in the Declaration of Independence, The Articles of Confederation, and the Constitution. The lecture will not focus on Critical Race Theory from either a negative or positive position.

Gus Seligmann, PhD, is an Associate Professor in the UNT Department of History. He has been teaching U.S. political history at both the undergraduate and graduate level for several decades.
St. Patrick and His Day(s) of Celebration

KEL Tues. March 1; 1:00pm - 2:30pm
LAN Fri. March 4; 10:00am - 11:30am
FR Fri. March 11; 1:00pm - 2:30pm
GS Fri. March 25; 10:00am - 11:30am

St. Patrick’s death (probably on the 17th of March during the 5th Century) has been celebrated for at least a thousand years in Ireland. Celebrations, now worldwide, occur in more countries than any other holiday. In the U.S., celebrations have become almost akin to a national holiday. In this session, the origins, evolving, and contradictory legacy of the celebrations will be explored.

Rudy Ray Seward, PhD, is a Professor Emeritus in the Department of Sociology at UNT. He is a descendant of Mary Davis, born on Christmas Day in 1792 in County Tyrone, Ireland. He first visited Ireland in 1971 and in 1998 was Research Fellow at National University of Ireland, Galway.

Texas Rangers

FM Wed. Feb. 2; 2:30pm - 4:00pm
FR Fri. Feb. 4; 1:00pm - 2:30pm
GS Fri. Feb. 18; 10:00am - 11:30am
LAN Fri. April 22; 10:00am - 11:30am

Texas Rangers have become the focus of controversy in contemporary Texas. But what is a Ranger? The truth is that the Rangers have been several different organizations throughout their history, changing as the needs of Texas evolved. This will be a survey of the many different incarnations of the rangers, with key individuals and events highlighted.

Richard B. McCaslin, PhD, is a Texas State Historical Association Endowed Professor of Texas History in the Department of History at UNT, where he currently teaches classes on Texas and 19th century U.S. military history. His primary interest is in addressing the myths of our past and finding the truth that lies within, as well as explaining the not-so-true elements that develop.

The Doolittle Raiders of WWII

LAN Fri. Feb. 11; 10:00am - 11:30am

This session will be based upon an interview with the co-pilot to Jimmy Doolittle and research on the crews who bombed Tokyo within months after Pearl Harbor. Members will get a feel for what it was like to take off from a carrier with no training, head out over hundreds of miles of nothing but ocean, bomb Tokyo in daylight, and try to escape.

Darrel VanDyke, PhD, received his doctorate degree in Computer Science and worked with several early computer companies. He is currently President of the OLLI at UNT Advisory Council.

The Hidden History of Hooch and Prohibition in Denton County

UNT Wed. March 30; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

Moonshine, White lightning, Corn Squeezins... whatever its name, illegal liquor has long been a controversial enterprise that gets included in few official histories. Interestingly, Denton County has long had an intimate if conflicted relationship with alcoholic beverages. This session will provide a history of bootlegger outlaws and whiskey entrepreneurs as a precursor to today’s renewed interest in craft beer, Texas whiskey, and popular draft houses or growler bars that are reinvigorating many downtown Texas communities.

Shaun Treat, PhD, is a former UNT Assistant Professor of Communication Studies and local history writer who hosts Nerd Nite Denton, founded Denton Haunts Ghost Tours, and is an active member in numerous civic organizations.

The History of Feminist Credit Unions and Women's Banks in Texas

FR Fri. March 4; 10:00am - 11:30am

While there was a boom in feminist credit unions and women's banks in the 1970s as a grassroots response to the mistreatment of women by traditional banks and other lenders, most had fizzled out by the 1980s. The Dallas FF CU, on the other hand, persisted until 2012. This session will explore the history of women’s banking and lending, the Equal Credit Opportunity Act of 1972, and how and why Dallas women’s financial institutions were so resilient.

Danielle Dumaine, PhD, is a lecturer at UNT at Frisco and coordinator for the North Texas Now! dual-credit program. She is a 20th century US historian, and she specializes in histories of women, gender, sexuality, and capitalism.

The Mystery Behind the Knights Templar: Separating Facts from Fiction

RR Tues. March 22; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

The Knights Templar, the warrior monks who became a formidable force in the Middle Ages, vanished as quickly as they had appeared, leaving behind them a trail of mystery which has led to many conspiracy theories. More than 700 years after their disappearance, essays, films, and best-selling novels about the Templars continue to be produced. What is so fascinating about them? This lecture will explore their history and attempt to distinguish between facts and fiction.

Marie-Christine W. Koop, PhD, was a Professor of French civilization at UNT for 31 years, in addition to serving as Chair of the Department of World Languages, Literatures, and Cultures. She is past president of the American Association of Teachers of French and has received several international awards.

The Quakertown Story: Historic African American Families

UNT Mon. Feb. 28; 10:00am - 11:30am

Freed slaves moved to Denton after the Civil War and established a community that came to be known as Quakertown. It thrived until the people were forced to move and begin again. This session will survey the history and development of Denton’s Quakertown district. It will chronicle the African American experience in Denton both before and after the displacement of Quakertown residents, paying tribute to the courage and enduring resilience of Denton’s remarkable citizens.

Karyn Blucker is a retired Denton ISD elementary teacher of language arts and social studies. She has volunteered with the Denton County Office of History and Culture for several years. She does museum tours and traveling exhibits to schools and other organizations.
The Sweep of American History as Revealed through Currency and Coins

LAN Fri. Feb. 18; 10:00am - 11:30am

Eagles, Bison, Native Americans, Tennessee Woodsmen, Western Expansion, Explosion of Agriculture, Rapid Industrialization, Wars, and more. The numerous re-issues of currency glow with insights into American history. They are a visual depiction of how our culture and values have evolved. Members in this session will learn about this line of evolution through numerous photographs of currency and coins and the interesting stories behind their design.

David Higgins, PhD, (see bio on page 33)

Three First Ladies of the 19th Century

LAN Fri. Feb. 4; 10:00am - 11:30am
FM Mon. April 4; 2:30pm - 4:00pm

This course will examine the lives and contributions of three fascinating first ladies of the 19th century - Dolley Madison, Julia Tyler & Frances Cleveland - including their roles as teammates while their husbands were in the White House.

Bruce Ralston (see bio on page 34)

Tippecanoe and Twitter Too: Changing Techniques in American Presidential Campaigns

FM Wed. March 30; 2:30pm - 4:00pm

Gus Seligmann, PhD (see bio on page 34)

Using Cemetery Research to Supplement Regular Genealogy Research

FM Mon. March 21; 2:30pm - 4:00pm

This session will provide information about researching and using cemetery information to learn more about a deceased relative’s life and family. This will include such topics as preparing for the trip, what to bring, how to preserve the information you find, and interpreting symbols and logos listed on the headstone markers. Also, websites will be provided to help locate where relatives are buried and other related information.

Charles P. Wilt, CISA, is a graduate of Cameron University who was involved with genealogy research for over 30 years. He is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Wounded Knee and Lakota Life Yesterday and Today

FM Mon. Feb. 14; 2:30pm - 4:00pm
UNT Wed. April 6; 10:00am - 11:30am

In this session, members will be presented with background on why the Lakota Sioux came to be isolated in a small patch of ground in South Dakota called Pine Ridge. Then a discussion will follow regarding life on their reservation today.

Darrel VanDyke, PhD (see bio on page 35)

Your Family History: Discovering Who You Are

KEL Tues. March 22 & 29; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

The craft of genealogy helps an individual learn about their ancestors and better understand their own personal identity. This course will introduce genealogical methods applicable in American and international research. Members will be introduced to key record types and the role of technology in genealogical research.

Emily C. Richardson, EdD, worked in higher education for 30 years as an administrator and a tenured faculty member, before retiring to follow her genealogy passion and open her genealogy business, Kinsearchers. She has done genealogy research for over 40 years and has taught this topic to both college students and adult learners.

Your Family History: Researching U.S. Church Records

LAN Fri. March 11; 10:00am - 11:30am

Church records are an underutilized source. Yet, it is in these records where members may find ancestors’ births, maiden or married names, marriage details, deaths, family relationships, and residences. This course will help members develop a step-by-step process for identifying, locating, and accessing church records.

Emily C. Richardson, EdD (see bio above)

A Look at the Deepwater Horizon Oil Spill: A Ten Year Perspective

RR Tues. April 5, 12, & 19; 2:45pm - 4:15pm

Learn about the national response to the worst oil spill in U.S. history and how experts from around the world worked to combat the spill and ultimately shut down the flow of oil from the seafloor. This course will provide some interesting facts about the response itself, the environmental research that took place in the decade that followed, and will briefly examine how communities respond to environmental crisis. Finally, members will learn how the Deepwater Horizon oil spill compares to other large spills that have occurred worldwide in the past 40 years, and what efforts are taking place to prevent accidents like this from happening again in the future.

Gina Coelho, PhD, currently works for the Bureau of Safety and Environmental Enforcement in the Response Research Branch, where she oversees research related to oil spill prevention and response. Previously, she spent nearly 30 years in environmental consulting where she had the opportunity to work in all seven continents.

How the Natural Environment Gets Away With Murder

RR Thurs. March 3; 10:00am - 11:30am

This session will focus on the environmental and human health impacts of geologic materials and geologic processes. A balanced, fact-based discussion will be provided on both positive and negative effects of the natural environment on human health with emphasis on the issues that impact Texas and surrounding areas.

Robert Finkelman, PhD, helped create the field of medical geology and has co-edited five books on the subject. He received his doctorate degree in Chemistry from the University of Maryland. Since the mid-1990s he has conducted research on the issues that will be covered in this lecture.
Native Plants That Were in Texas Before Columbus

UNT Wed. Feb. 16; 10:00am - 11:30am
FR Fri. April 29; 10:00am - 11:30am

This session will explore the relationship between native plants and their pollinators. Native plants by definition are those that were present in Texas before the lifetime of Christopher Columbus. They require little water, fertilizer, and attention. They are undergoing considerable pressure due to pollinator die off, climate change, and real estate development.

Cecil Carter has served as President of the Native Plant Society of Texas and taught on the Adjunct Faculty at Oklahoma State University’s Oklahoma City Branch for five years. He and his wife have birded across Texas. Much of their 2-acre home site is devoted to native plants and a portion is also left as a wildscape.

The Geldingadalir Volcano and Iceland Experience

RR Tues. March 8; 2:45pm - 4:15pm

In March 2021, a new volcanic event began in Iceland creating one of the most accessible opportunities to witness a volcano close up. In this session, members will witness this amazing force of nature and other sights in South Iceland through still photography. Iceland is indeed the land of fire and ice.

Alfred Lockwood is an avid nature and travel photographer with decades of experience behind the camera. Through photography, his mission is to not only document moments, but to express the emotion of the experience.

PHILOSOPHY & RELIGION

Aspects of Comparative Religion

UNT Mon. April 4; 10:00am - 11:30am

Each faith has its own focus and intricacies. This session, which will be the first in a series, will begin exploring similarities and differences in the world’s major religions. With a scholarly approach, the session will address how different faiths define their God and their goals for each human life.

Indian Philosophy and Culture

FM Wed. Feb. 16 & 23; 2:30pm - 4:00pm

Indian culture spreads its fragrance in multiple ways, encompassing a variety of cuisines, festivals, language, attire, music, and dance, each with a flavor of its own. There are ceremonies for birth and death; likewise, an Indian wedding is a celebration of union, not only of the bride and groom but also of two families! Surprisingly, irrespective of its diversity, Indian culture is deeply rooted in a core philosophy which translates into a value system and then gets reflected into the way of life, the artifacts. This course will walk members through the three-way journey to understand and appreciate Indian culture.

Modern Philosophy and Climate Change

RR Tues. March 29 & April 5; 1:00pm - 2:30pm
GS Fri. April 15 & 22; 10:00am - 11:30am

What are the root causes of climate change? This course will explore the thesis that key modern philosophical ideas about humans and nature set the stage for our current high-energy way of life. Do we need to abandon these ideas if we are to solve climate change? Or does modernity hold the solution to the problems of its own creation?

The Historical Jesus Through the Prism of the Kabbalah

FR Fri. April 1; 1:00pm - 2:30pm
UNT Wed. April 6; 1:00pm - 2:30pm
GS Fri. April 8; 10:00am - 11:30am

Applying the knowledge of the Ancient Jewish Mystical Tradition, The Kabbalah, to the Gospel accounts of Jesus, this course will explain the purpose of Jesus’ mission (namely, to establish the Kingdom of God in Israel prophesied by Isaiah), how Jesus attempted to do this, what Jesus did when he failed to bring about the Kingdom of God in Israel, and the mechanics of gaining Enlightenment and Salvation.

Leonard C. Scott is a researcher who has been conducting research on the Historical Jesus for the past twenty-five years using Kabbalistic sources. He has written articles and a book, soon to be published, on the Historical Jesus.

SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, ENGINEERING, & MATH

Changing the World One Element at a Time

KEL Tues. March 8; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

A notable bull rider once said, ’It ain’t braggin’ if it’s true!’ This presentation will highlight how the history of Texas has laid the foundation of our status on the world’s stage and how things that happened in Texas have made a difference. Through 10 stories (maybe more), members will learn about important advances such as the discovery of oil, the addition of a malodorous to natural gas, the fluoridation of municipal water supplies, a few special solutions, and the birth of nanotechnology and the lithium battery. Members will leave with all the bragging rights that make Texas and Texans extraordinary.

Diana Mason, PhD, is a Professor Emeritus in the UNT Department of Chemistry. She taught chemistry at high school and university levels for 33 years. Dr. Mason is a Fellow of the American Chemical Society. In 2016, she was commissioned by Governor Abbott as an Admiral in the Texas Navy, recognizing her passion for the great state of Texas.

Cut the Cable: Let’s Sharpen the Scissors

RR Tues. April 26; 10:00am - 11:30am

In this session, members will learn how they can successfully “cut the cable” to save money on their entertainment. The session will include an open discussion of streaming devices and services, including roof antennae and the latest in ATSC 3.0 NextGen 4K over the air transmission.

Steve Simpson is an experienced OLLI instructor with a passion for teaching about “cutting the cable,” photography, drones, and high tech devices. He worked for over 20 years supporting the major mobile wireless phone carriers.
Immunity and Aging
FR Fri. April 8; 10:00am - 11:30am

Our knowledge of the immune system exploded during the past decades. However, understanding how the immune system changes with age continues to be a developing field of research. In this session, members will be introduced to the basics of the immune system in order to understand the changes that may cause functional decline of immunity in advanced age. The session will also highlight areas of current research on aging and immunity.

Pamela Witte, PhD, is Professor Emeritus in the Department of Microbiology and Immunology at Loyola University Chicago School of Medicine. She holds a PhD from UT Southwestern Medical Center and has investigated the immune system for 40 years.

Course Evaluations:
Our Curriculum Committee depends on member evaluations when planning future programming. After the end of each course, all members who have enrolled will receive an email reminding them to complete our online evaluation form. A link to the form is also available at olli.unt.edu/members.

Who Invented the Computer? Part II
RR Tues. March 8; 10:00am - 11:30am
FR Fri. April 1; 10:00am - 11:30am
KEL Tues. April 26; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

It is impossible to identify a single inventor of the machine we call the computer. There are, however, significant milestones along the road to the creation of this ubiquitous modern tool. A surprising one is found in the early 1800s, marking the work of two intriguing pioneers: Charles Babbage and Ada Lovelace. This session will explore the inspirations and collaborations of this son of a wealthy banker and daughter of a famous poet, and how their talents and personalities combined to almost create a working computer 100 years before any other became a reality.

David McKinley retired in 2020 after a 50-year career as a systems and software engineer, spanning two-thirds of the era of electronic digital computers. He was personally involved with computers programmed via patch panels, experienced the PC revolution, and was ultimately a principal architect of cloud-based systems for Oracle.

Strokes: Impact, Science, Safety, and Patient Perspectives
UNT Wed. March 9; 10:00am - 11:30am
GS Fri. March 11; 10:00am - 11:30am

In this session, members will learn about strokes from a local neuroscientist who recently experienced one herself. She now seeks to empower others by sharing her knowledge and raising awareness.

April Becker, PhD, is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Behavior Analysis at UNT. Her research and interests have two aims: to better understand the basic mechanisms of learning and recovery from brain injury and to develop better clinical approaches to rehabilitation.
Curiosity is powerful. Research tells us it can enhance intelligence and increase perseverance. Being curious propels us to deeper engagement, superior performance, and more meaningful goals. The question is: how can we be more curious? This session will give members a first orientation to the strange, fascinating and curious they are, ways they can be more curious and, if possible, how they might invite others to be curious.

Cassini Nazir, MFA, is a Program Director and Clinical Associate Professor at UNT at Frisco where he teaches classes in design thinking and interaction design.

Alzheimer's Disease and Dementia

Bert Hayslip, Jr., PhD, (see bio on page 33)

Brain Health: The Care and Feeding of Your Brain

FM Mon. March 7; 2:30pm - 4:00pm

There are countless options for us to continue to maintain and enhance brain function, build new brain cells, and reduce the risk of dementia. This will not be an anatomy and physiology lesson. The session will provide members with a basic understanding of factors that influence brain function and provide a wide range of tools that will help preserve, stimulate, and challenge brain function.

Kirsten Kaae, MEd, is a Registered Nurse and Licensed Professional counselor with 30+ years of experience working in end-of-life care, consulting and counseling on issues related to aging, and providing grief support services.

Building Skills Through Imagery

GS Fri. Feb. 11; 10:00am - 11:30am
FM Mon. Feb. 21; 2:30pm - 4:00pm
RR Thurs. Feb. 24; 10:00am - 11:30am
LAN Fri. Feb. 25; 10:00am - 11:30am

Imagery is an experience in which the imagination of the five senses significantly resembles an object or event. This session will present the scientific and neurological understanding as to why imagery practices are successful methods of increasing motor skills. Multiple studies have proven the efficacy of imagery practices on motor skill learning, yet imagery integration in schools is rarely taught. This session will provide demonstrations and materials that help build skills through imagery, such as motor skill acquisition and self-confidence.

Kenny Ross is a current Brass Methods Teaching Fellow in the UNT College of Music, where he is pursuing his doctorate. Kenny wrote his master’s thesis on imagery intervention and he is pursuing his doctorate. Kenny wrote his master’s thesis on imagery intervention practices within music and is excited to apply it to a new audience.

Fortified Wines and Sweet Wines

LAN Fri. April 29; 10:00am - 11:30am

This session will introduce the basic and popular styles of fortified wines and sweet wines in the world, including Sherry, Port, Noble Rot sweet wines, and ice wines. With a tasting session, members will compare and contrast different characteristics of these wines.

Han Wen, PhD (see bio on page 17)

How to Navigate the Current Health Care System

UNT Wed. Feb. 2; 10:00am - 11:30am
RR Thurs. Feb. 10; 10:00am - 11:30am
FM Wed. March 9; 2:30pm - 4:00pm

This session will cover the U.S. health care system and how it developed its current structure. The various pressures that different parts of the system are under will be discussed, with recommendations for how to best navigate them to get the care you need. This will not be a political talk and will not be about the best health care systems.

John McKenzie, MD, retired after a 30 year career in east Texas as a Family Practice Specialist, with additional certification in Geriatric Medicine. After retiring from his practice, he taught at LSU School of Medicine in Shreveport.

LAN Fri. April 8; 10:00am - 11:30am

What one sends and intends & what others receive and interpret often results in two different messages. Join Kaye Nubel for a fast moving, highly experiential session of exploring the reasons why we each see the world differently and how we can use this information for more empathetic communication in our personal and professional lives. Specific skills will be introduced and practiced.

Kaye Nubel is a former Associate Professor who has taught at university and college levels for over 25 years and provided workshops and seminars in the public arena. Her areas of expertise are in Public Speaking, Interpersonal Communication, Intercultural Communication which includes Gender Communication, Group Dynamics and Team Building.

Successful Aging in Movies

FR Fri. Feb. 4, 11, 18, & 25; 10:00am - 11:30am

In this course, members will view and compare clips from films, documentaries, and short videos that focus on successful aging across different cultures. The course will also feature research on how improving social engagement helps to maintain a healthy life. When it comes to living a meaningful life, you are the lead actor!

Xiaoli Li published four books about film culture in China before coming to UNT as a visiting scholar in 2016. She shifted research interests to public health with a focus on applied gerontology. Now she researches how social engagement improves the quality of life among older adults.

The Benefits of a Positive Psychology

UNT Wed. March 23; 1:00pm - 2:30pm

This session will focus on the psychological and neurobiological aspects of positive psychology, such as gratitude, altruism, and positive emotions.

Craig Neumann, PhD, is a Distinguished Research Professor in the UNT Department of Psychology. He has been active teaching and conducting research in the Clinical Psychology Graduate Training Program at UNT for over 20 years.
